500-Seat Movie Theater Planned; No X-Rated Films To Be Shown

Plans were announced yesterday to build a 500-seat movie theater in the Grove Shopping Center, Arlington Heights and Biesterfield roads, in Elk Grove Village.

Construction is expected to begin this summer with completion in the late summer or early fall, announced Walter Pancoe of Winnetka, one of the theater owners and operators with his brother, Arthur, of Glencoe.

X-rated films will not be shown, said Walter Pancoe.

"Our film selection will be directed toward showing movies the entire family can enjoy and will exclude x-rated and those not suited for family viewing,"

Pancoe said plans for the theater have been in the works for eight months. Last December, the Herald reported according to Neil Cooney, local bank president and park commissioner, that a theater would be coming to the community in April. THE THEATER, to be affiliated with Jerry Lewis Cinemas, would be that chain's first completed in the Chicago area if the owners meet their goal.

Rex Enterprises, the area directors for Jerry Lewis Cinemas, has indicated there are several other theaters to be built in surrounding communities.

Jack Pahl, village president, said "The village is 100 per cent happy that the theater will be a reality." He noted that he was pleased only family movies would be

The theater will be built on a land parcel purchased from Centex Corp. The site is at the south end of the shopping center and will have ample parking

A NEED FOR A movie theater was established in 1967 when a study by the park district determined that a community swimming pool was the most needed recreational facility, followed by a movie

Disney Pool, the community's second (Lions Park pool was the first), was provided in 1969.

The theater is being designed by the architectural firm of Karson Besinger and Associates of Carpentersville Pancoe said the architects have been instructed to provide an imtimate and comfortable facility incorporating the latest features found in the newest theaters. He added that included in the theater will be a facility for exhibiting the works of local artists.

Other theaters near Elk Grove Village include the Oasis Outdoor Theater in Elk Grove Township and a twin theater under construction at Woodfield Mall in Schaumburg.

But neither the vending machine operators or spokesmen from the telephone company could say that the problem with bad coins is a major one.

Matt Cockrell, who runs the Cockrell Coffee Service in Schaumburg, which operates more than 600 coin machines in the northwest suburbs, said usually his company has no problem with bad coins.

'Needless to say we do get slugs." Cockrell commented, "but you wouldn't believe how small a problem this is for us. The percentage of slugs put in our machines is so small that I would question if it could be calculated on a per cent basis."

Cockrell did say that he has a problem with Canadian coins because the difference in metal content jams a coin machine. "But the most unusual case we've had," Cockrell said, "was the live worm that had been pushed down the coin slot. He got battered a little from the coins that followed him but he came out of it a is fair-sized, "but not nearly the same live worm.'

Don Hesch, manager of the Arlington Heights Entertainers, Inc., a coin machine company which also operates in the Northwest suburbs, said their biggest problem of late has been with Canadian

"IT'S MADE OF metal that adheres to magnets in the coin equipment," Hesch explained, "it jams up anything that comes up behind it."

Hesch said 15 to 20 per cent of his servvice calls stem from the Canadian coins which jam up machines.

"We don't get too many slugs," he added, "but mutilated money which also jams up our equipment is a nuisance."

A representative of the Bell Telephone Co. in Arlington Heights which serves Arlington Heights. Mount Prosepct, Prospect Heights and Rolling Meadows, said the problems of slugs and bent coins

He added that when a bad coin is used and it jams up a coin phone "someone else will be deprived of the use of that phone, possibly in time of an emergen-

Spokesmen for the Central Telephone Co. in Des Plaines which serves Des Plaines, Park Ridge, Rosemont and some of Prospect Heights said their biggest coin problem is in industrial areas.

"WASHERS AND SLUGS are more readily available there," one spokesman said, "but the problem is in all pay telephones. The biggest problem on the street is vandalism.

According to Martin Brown, public relations superintendent for Central Telephone, the company operates about $1,500 outside stations and eight men are employed to maintain and repair the company's pay phones.

Teacher Group Supports Larry Moran

A group of 23 teachers in Elementary Dist. 59 and High School Dist. 214 has announced its support for a Harper College board candidate.

The teachers are backing Larry Moran of Schaumburg, one of eight persons running for three open seats on the Harper

A press release indicated that Chris Melby and Holly Fagerman, both of Arlington Heights, head the group, which has had two organizational meetings in Melby's home in Arlington Heights.

Easter Bunny To Deliver Baskets

Easter baskets purchased for children this year from Endler's Pharmacy, 1770 W. Algonquin Rd., Mount Prospect, will be delivered by the Easter bunny himself. This is the second year in a row that the pharmacy is baying persons dressed as Easter binnies deliver the baskets to children. The baskets will be delivered Sunday in and around Mount Prospect, Arlington Heights and Elk Grove Village

"The group is now engaged in distributing leaflets, phoning area residents and will represent Mr. Moran at the polls on April 10," the press release stated.

Rich Chierico, a member of the executive committee of Educators for Political Action (EPA), said that the teachers had no relationship with his group.

The EPA sponsored three candidate forums last week. Chierico stressed the two teachers are not involved in the EPA's activities.

Moran could not be reached for comment on the group. He is presently employed as a paraprofessional tutor in learning disabilities in Dist. 59 and attended Harper College last year.

Legislators Trembling Over Ruling On Corporate Tax

Illinois legislators and Gov. Richard Ogilvie may be trembling - and justifiably so - following the ruling last week by Circuit Judge Walter P. Dahl that personal property taxes on corporations in the state are unconstitutional.

Voters in the state abolished the tax on individuals last year in a state-wide referendum, and the new Illinois Constitution would have abolished it on corporations by 1979.

But if Dahl's ruling is upheld, the legislators are going to have to find a quick solution for the loss of revenue by thousands of taxing bodies in the state The Constitutuion directs the legislature to find new sources for revenue to replace the lost money If Dahl's ruling is upheld, they'll have to find that revenue soon. That means there will have to be tax increases or new taxes and that is one thing the legislators do not want to have hanging over their heads. Most of the members of the current

General Assembly also were members when the Illinois Income Tax was created and many of them feel they have not yet lived that one down Many Republicans who lost their jobs last year in the Democratic sweep in IIIInots believe one of the major causes was the income tax

And recent surveys of Republican Party leaders in Illinois show that Ogilvie is in bad shape 20 months before the 1972 election because of the income tax

But 20 months is a fairly long time and it is quite possible that the sting of the income tax could be gone by November,

Now, however, the Dahl ruling could replace that sting with a new one and could just about seal Ogilvie's doom in

The responsibility for finding new sources of revenue rests with the legislature, but Ogilvie will have to sign whatever legislation eventually is passed by the General Assembly. He can veto it or attempt to delay it until after the elections but the voters will be able to see through the motives of that kind of ac-

The concern of the legislators with the ghost of the income tax has been very evident so far in the legislative session.

Numerous bills have been introduced to reduce taxes or to provide tax exemptions for various segments of society the elderly parents of nonpublic school students, the blind, people who purchase food or medicines, etc.

The obvious intent is to show the vot ers prior to 1972 that the legislators want to reduce taxes.

Now, their efforts may be meaningless if they have to find a new tax. The choice might come down to one between a new tax or an even greater financial crisis for Illinois. So it is very understandable if the legislators and governor are keeping their fingers crossed and hoping the Dahl ruling is overturned. And it's quite possible that the occupant of the white building at 1600 Pennsylvania Ave., Washington, D.C., is doing the same thing. Illinois put him over the top in 1968 and another Democratic sweep, ala 1970, is not in his plans for 1972.

That $120 Million Hole

by DAVE CRIPPEN Metropolitan Editor

Recent developments in Cook County's current financial crists have gotten a rise out of everyone but the guy they affect most - the taxpayer.

His silence has been steadfast amid reports of higher property taxes, a record county budget, late tax bills and gloomy financial prospects for local taxing dis-

Even when Circuit Court Judge Walter P. Dahl dropped a bombshell last week in ruling the corporate personal property tax unconstitutional, the taxpayer gave little indication of being upset.

I suppose this lack of reaction is easily understood. After all, the little guy suffers from a feeling of helplessness when it comes to influencing what public bodies do with his money. Who could deny quiet resignation is much better than frenzied outrage and a resultant ulcer?

But all of us who dutifully contribute each year to the public coffers have reason to be concerned. We are in the midst of what could very well rank as the worst fiscal dilemma this area has ever experiencea.

Hardest hit of course, are local taxing bodies - especially school districts. Tax hills that could be as much as 90 days. late have forced local bodies to issue tax anticipation warrants to finance operating costs. By taking this necessary step, a taxing district must pay thousands of dollars ia interest.

the tax on corporate personal property, most of which is distributed to school districts. The decision of course is being appealed to the Illinois Supreme Court. But even that isn't much cause for rejoicing.

The appeals process could bring about action by the state high court enjoining the county treasurer from distributing corporate personal property collections until a decision is rendered. With the money locked up in escrow, local taxing districts could not get their hands on all needed funds and, therefore, would resort once more to tax anticipation war-

The state, like every other governmental body, already faces its own form of fiscal problems. Loss of corporate personal property revenue could drastically worsen them, for Dahl's decision, if upheld, would erase corporate personal property from the tax rolls not only in Cook County, but statewide.

The state then would have to find another source of revenue. And that inevi-Judge Dahl's decision last Tuesday tably would mean more taxes. What kind raised the possibility the county could—of taxes is hard to say. But the list of

What it could mean for you and me is uncomfortably easier to understand.

The county last week lost $3 million more with another circuit court decision. Judge Daniel A. Covelli ruled Thursday that the 1969 use-tax law is unconstitutional. The tax, levied on firms that leased tax-exempt land for commercial purposes, would have been paid for the first time this year.

Covelli's decision went almost unnoticed. After all, what's a measly $3 miltion in annual revenue nowadays? I don't know. But the fact the county won't have it is bound to mean something to our bank accounts.

And finally . With home-rule provision of the new state constitution becoming effective July 1, local governments will hold the power to levy various taxes. Officials have already begun to explore the possibilities. And, again, the list is long,

Tracor Gets $1.3 Million Contract

United States Representative J. Jake Pickle. Tex., and United States Senator John Tower, Tex., have formally announced a $1.3 million contract award from the United States Army, Fort Hood, Tex., to Tracor, Inc., Austin, Tex.

Awarded to Tracor through the San Francisco Procurement Agency, the contract is for a system to be used within Ft. Hood test areas to locate the position of men; moving vehicles such as jeeps, trucks, and tanks; personnel carriers; and aircraft, both helicopters and fixed

According to Congressman Pickle and Senator Tower, Tracor's contract represents the first major contract awarded under the recently created Masters Program Directorate, United States Army. Frank W. McBee Jr., Tracor President, said that the award of this contract was the result of previous work performed by Tracor and that the system is based upon the company's expertise in VLF and OMEGA phase-tracking. He said the work will be done jointly by Tracor's Instruments and Military Products Divisions, Headed by Group Vice President Marcel E. Gres.

Originated and developed by Tracor e n g i n e e r s , Tracor's position reporting/recording system consists of 200 mobile units which may be adapted to men, vehicles, or aircraft in any combination. The information of position is determined by radio signals which are radiated from each of the particular mobile units and received by five towers based around the perimeter of the Ft. Hood area. The signals are then relayed back to a central data processing system which converts them into standard military map presentation and then plots the locations with identifying Alpha numerics upon a large video tube similar to a television set.

Typical plotting reaction time for aircraft moving 200 miles an hour is in less than 1/6th of a second and typical accuracy is expected to be better than 100

McBee pointed out that another unique feature of the system is its adaptability for applications in other areas. Commercially it may have application in pristate governments, for automatic location and reporting of vehicles.

Tracor is primarily a manufacturer of electronic and electro-mechanical components and systems, computer products. dedicated computer systems, and scientific instruments. The company also is involved in sponsored research and development projects in a wide range of scientific disciplines.

Littelfuse, Inc., of Des Plaines is a wholly owned subsidiary of Tracor, Inc.

"Who or what is the Tax Foundation?" Harry referred to his notes "A nonprofit organization engaged in research and education. See, they put out this thing saying that in 1971, Americans will have to work two bours and 37 minutes of their eight-hour day to earn enough to pay their taxes."

"That still leaves you five hours and 33 minutes," said the little woman, who is very quick with figures. 'So why are you an hour and a half late?

Your mother probably told you that a gas range is the only one that gives you instant-on, instant-off heat Soft, gentle heat that surrounds the pan so there are no hotspots to make food stick and cookware warp.

And she probably told you that only a gas range lets you broil with the door closed.

Mother was right, But what she told you wasn't half of it. Because today gas ranges have gone modern in a big, big way.

Like, for you, oven scrubbing is out. You can choose one that cleans itself on command for pennies, or one that cleans itself continuously while you bake.

Choose an infra-red broiler and you get the job done in half the time Mom could ... and the meat will be juicier and more tender, too.

You're sometimes out all day? So what! Choose an automatic oven and it will cook dinner, then keep it warm till you're ready for it.

And how about an automatic meat thermometer that signals when the roast is ready...or a built-in rotisserie, griddle and timer? You can have them all and lots more on a gas range...the range designed for today's life style. Mom knew a thing or two about cooking with gas all right. But you could tell her a thing or two Right?

See the modern gas ranges on display at our offices or visit your local appliance dealer or department store.

Four Campaign At College

Four of the eight candidates for three open seats on the Harper College board of trustees came home to Harper College yesterday

Judging from the turnout - between four and 25 students - there weren't a lot of persons listening

The candidates - Larry Moran, Milton Hansen, Ross Miller and Eugene Nugent - spoke in the college's cavernous College Center

About four students clustered in the rows of perhaps 50 chairs near the speaker's platform About 20 persons in the rear of the Center and from the balcomes seemed to listen at times to the candidates

Hansen, the only incumbent trustee seeking reelection, suggested the Student Senate might work on setting up a jitney bus system to transport students to and from Harper

He said students could be licensed and then assigned a specific route on which students would be picked up and driven to the college Hansen suggested Algonquin Road between the college and Mount Prospect as one possible route

Miller said he did not have a "lot of nat answers" for the group. He indicated he seconded Hansen's concern on transportation to Harper

Moran, a former Harper student, said town meetings, question-and-answer sessions after board meetings and progress that the others haven't?

There is no heat that is anywhere near as clean as electric heat. Because other heats use a flame And a flame needs air Some of that air coines from the outside, bringing dirt in around doors and windows. Dirt that wouldn't be there with flameless electric heat. And because you're not drawing in that dry outside air, you maintain a better humidity level. So you're more comfortable. Hectric heat gives you a wide selection of heating systems. Heating cables can be installed right in ceiling and floors You don't even know they're there But you ll be living cleaner and quieter And because the heat comes from the ceiling, you can put your furniture anywhere you want it And there's individual room control.

The same thing is true for baseboard heat. It's installed where you need it most. Like under windows and along outside walls where your room is coldest. Again von get individu il room control

And then there's in electric furnice. A furnace that has no flame so you get a cleaner more even hear And if you prefer hot water hear you can even have a flumeless electric boiler. Think about what you're heating with now the dirt noise, and maintenance Is it all worth it?

To find out which electric he it is best where you live or plan to live contact your nearest Commonwealth Edison Office and ask for an Llectric Heating Consultant CE Co

Three Area Squads Win; St. Viator Nips Prospect

The calendar has swept into the third season of high school athletic competition, but as he did in football and basketball, Mike Pettenuzzo is still making headlines for St. Viator.

Mike's latest feat included doubling home the tying runs, scoring the winner and checking a surging Prospect rally yesterday with a relief stint to preserve a 6-5 Lion triumph.

Viator was tamed by the whip of Knight fireballer Bill Thurnhoffer who allowed just one run on three hits during the opening six innings. "Nate" struck out 10 and walked but two in the Knights'

A sacrifice fly by Pat Guiney sent Bencriscutto scooting home, to turn back a visiting Deerfield outfit 4-3 in the darkness-curtailed contest. Beneriscutto had opened the frame by walking, stealing second and advancing to third on a passed ball.

Things hadn't looked as bright for the hosts earlier in the contest. The Warriors sent 14 men to the plate during the opening two innings and compiled a 3-0 lead in the second stanza with the help of a pair of miscues.

The Wildcats got two back in their half of the second on a couple of walks, a single by Benscricutto and a two-base error. And in the third Mike Groot knotted things up by slamming a triple out by the fence in right center and scoring on a wild pitch.

Casey Wasilowski twirled two scoreless innings in relief to collect the decision. He whiffed three, one of them curtailing a Deerfield rally in the sixth with runners on first and third.

Elk Grove Romps

Elk Grove evened their baseball slate yesterday as head coach Larry Peddy's offensive lineup came to life.

After suffering a 10-1 shellacking in the season opener, the Grenadiers made Fenton their first victim of the campaign, 7-2, in an abbreviated five-inning contest

Dave Hildebrand went the route for Elk Grove and checked the host Bisons on just three hits. The big righthander walked five and struck out six.

Hersey Blanked

A pair of Maine West southpaws stopped Hersey with one hit as the Huskies dropped a 2-0 non-conference baseball decision last night at Maine West.

Bill Besenhofer started for Maine West and hurled four innings for Maine West and faced only 12 batters. He yielded an infield single to Ken Morales in the fourth inning but later Morales was picked off. Besenhofer retired the first 10 Huskies in order.

Frank Mitcheil, another Warrior lefthander, threw the final three innings for Maine West and allowed only three Huskies to reach base -- one by an error and two via walks.

A clutch single by Dan Moss in the second inning provided Maine West with all the runs it needed.

Keith Moranz started the inning off by reaching first on an error before being forced at second on an errored fly ball hit by Rick Wolfgram. Dave Arnswald singled to put runners on first and second and Hersey starter Terry Smith balked to move the runners to second and third. Moss then stepped to the plate and slapped a single up the middle to score both Wolfgram and Arnswald.

Smith went the distance for Hersey and gave up only four hits while striking out six and walking tow.

Falcons Fall

West Leyden erupted for five runs in the third inning and went on to score six more over the final two frames to defeat Forest View 11-6 yesterday at the Leyden diamond.

The Falcons took the lead in the second inning on a bases loaded single by Greg Fink which scored two and a run producing double by Bob Kasper.

Forest View, now 1-1 on the season. made an attempt to rally in the fifth inning and scored three times before being stopped. The Falcons were helped by two Leyden errors. Larry Monroe, Forest View's starting pitcher, was tagged for the loss in the game cut short after five innings.

Accent On Youth For 'Cat Tennis

by KEITH REINHARD The accent is on youth in the Wheeling tennis camp this spring.

Goff - Palatine at Fremd, 3,30

Golf - Hersey at Glenbard North, 3:30

With only a pair of seniors in his probable starting lineup and only four experienced varsity performers on his entire squad, coach Ted Ecker is uncertain just how the Wildcats will fare this season. The mentor is hoping for an improvement over last year's finish at any rate. Wheeling finished with a 2-7 loop mark in dual competition in 1970 and wound up in eighth place after the conference meet With so many young kids it's difficult to assess our situation this early in the season," Ecker observed. "At least four teams in the league have to be rated stronger than us though."

The 'Cats will open their campaign at Glenbrook South this afternoon and will move on to Lake Park for a quad Saturday. April 17 before coming home to open Mid-Suburban league play against Palatine the following Tuesday.

Ecker's alignment will feature a trio of juniors at the singles berths with Vern Fish, a letterman who compiled a 1-6 mark at second singles last year, getting the number one nod.

Dave McAlister and Mark Schiozaki, both up from the frosh-soph unit, will go at second and third singles respectively.

Tabbed for duty at first doubles are Tom Fielder and John Kyle. Kyle is a innior while Fielder is a senior letter holder who saw action at second doubles last spring.

Wheeling Looks At First Division by KEITH REINHARD Another 'Cat with excellent loop title Frystak, like Olsen and Holzkopf a se-

Dave Darnall is the new Wildcat thinclad skipper, and he's hoping a final slot among the top five teams in the league will be just a preamble to better things in the future.

"I'd like to see us move right up into contention for the championship within a year or two and I think it's possible with the fine underclass group we have this spring," Darnall offered.

"Our frosh-soph team did pretty well in the Wildcat Relays despite some illnesses, and I think they've got a pretty good shot at their title this year. Now we have to lay the groundwork for a varsity title and I think I'll be disappointed if they don't finish in the first division next

Key to the mentor's aspirations are a pair of veterans he feels have the potential to be candidates in the state meet this year. One is Tom Holzkopf, a weight man who's been tossing the shotput through the indoor season while anxiously waiting to get outside for the dis-

Holzkopf took a third in the conference meet in the discus in 1970 with a 136-2 launch and since another Wildcat, league discus champ Kevin Barthule is graduated, he figures to be one of the prime contenders to take over that crown.

hopes is hurdler Joe Olsen. He took a fourth in the lows at the circuit meet last year and should be a big threat in both hurdles events this season.

Others Darnall is figuring on for lots of pointage during the current dual season campaign include senior John Johnson, who runs both long distance races and could come strong in the mile, along with a quartet of talented and versatile juniors in Jay Rusek, Bill Schumann, Dave Helmer and Kevin Danielson.

Rusek can be utilized in the long jump, shot put, 220 and on the 880 relay and stands to be Wheeling's number one man in both those field events. Schuman is a half miler with a 2:03 clocking under his belt already and he also works with the mile relay unit.

Helmer can also be used in the relays. His specialty is the 440 and he captured the soph conference title in this event last spring. Danielson, out for track the first time in '71 could see action in the 100, long jump and short relay race.

Darnall has a few other candidates likely to help the 'Cat cause. One is Mark nior and letterman, who runs the 880 and with the mile relay squad. Another is possibly Steve Drake, a sophomore who won the 440 at that level in the Wildcat Relays and will undoubtedly be seeing some varsity action in the quarter mile as well as on the mile relay squad.

Still others are senior Steve Simons, a 440 and mile relay man; junior Jerry McLaughlin, the team's top pole vaulter and also a high jumper; juntor Jerry MacFarland, the team's best bet in the high jump; junior sprinter Greg Bebau and senior dash man Mike Jolly, who too is out for track the first time this year.

Bebau and Jolly are also 880 relay can-

Darnall plans to give Drake some varsity experience but by conference meet time he'll undoubtedly be down with his peers including Steve Wilhelm, Dave Krawczak, Tom Marzek, Brian Crehan, Wally Trazz and Gary Cozimor along with frosh Scott Keenan to shoot for the frosh-soph title.

At the varsity plane meanwhile, the 'Cat mentor sees Elk Grove and Palatine trying to shoot down Fremd for the crown while his squad vies with Prospect and Hersey for the remaining first division berths.

Harper Rolls To Net Win

The Harper College tennis team will be lost one. This was how the action went: hoping to register victories No. 2 and 3 this afternoon against Joliet and tomorrow against the University of Chicago.

Coach Roy Kearns' Hawks have the momentum to do just that after their lopsided opener win at George Williams College, a four-year school on Monday.

The Hawks rolled over a stunned group of hosts, 6-1, despite the cold, windy weather. Now they are seeking to keep their record unmarked during the next two days with away meets beginning at

"I think they thought we might be a little easier than we were," said Kearns of the meet. He added that George Williams College would be playing the Hawks again, hopefully at their soon-to-be-finished home courts, on May 12. The Hawk singles players won four and Randy Seiler, playing first singles, whipped John Donovon by scores of 6-0, 6-1; Roger O'Keefe over Steve Caddwell 6-0, 6-1; Bill Hitzeman over Rick Christie 6-1. 6-0: John Meyn lost to Tom Miers 2-6, 2-6; and Mike Bierma over Stu Warner 6-2, 6-0.

The first doubles team of Seiler and Bierma struggled before defeating Donovan and Caddwell by scores of 6-3, 6-4. The second team of O'Keefe and Hitzeman blanked Christie and Miers 6-0, 6-0.

Kearns said he was very pleased with O'Keefe and Hitzeman who played "just as steady as can be" and "were really tough." He was also happy with the way the Seiler and Bierma team worked out their difficulties and played together in

Several days later the Dallas Tornado of the North American Soccer League (NASL) played a home game and fewer than 500 fans turned out

One of the main reasons for the failure of American soccer, critics say, is the inability of the United States to field a strong national team that would be able to gain a berth in the coveted World Cup, which is held every four years

The critics often claim that soccer's ruling body in the United States - the United States Soccer Football Assn (US-SI'A) - selects players on the US national team without ever having seen them in action

Now the USSFA, realizing that a strong US national team is essential for the overall growth of soccer in this country has appointed world renowned coach Detimar Cramer to pilot the US team Regional coaches have also been selected and the USSFA appears to be ready to go all out to get the United States into the 1974 World Cup set for

There have of course been other reasons for failure of U.S. soccer than the lack of a strong national team

In 1967 just one year after the successful World Cup held in England, many sports-minded promoters and others thought they had found a get-rich scheme and joined either the United Soccer Assn or the National Professional Soccer

There were 22 clubs in both leagues and it is estimated that the average loss per team was about $400,000 for one year. The following year the two leagues merged into the NASL with 16 clubs par ticipating Losses averaged more than $500 000 and then the bottom fell out with only Baltimore Atlanta St Louis Kan sas City and Dallas surviving for the 1969

"On what financial basis should you initially attack the problem? That to me is a very important question. In 1968 we expected too much too soon from the public As a result we lost a great deal of money Now we are trying to put our money to the best use and I expect that several clubs will not only break even but make a profit this year

I definitely feel that our previous shortcomings have nothing to do with whether or not soccer has the ingredients to be successful in the United States? Woonam added 'Of that I have no doubt Having lived in Atlanta for four years and seen adults and children alike learn to appreciate the game, soccer could spread through America, in my opinion, like a bush fire "

Letters From Our Readers:

Calley Verdict Reactions

The United States Army has always made me want to laugh and cry.

Fools they have been in the past. We all know the mistakes they have made. The time has come for the United States Army to stop fooling around.

Mr. Calley, I hope, won't feel bad when the big brass puts him in prison for the rest of his life. Or shoots him.

A man is trained to kill; he does so. Just as a man is trained to drive; he does so. But when a man is trained to kill, and does so, knowing he may be in pail for doing what he was trained to do, there is no justice.

This is just to say that for me, going to the Army will be in doubt

There may not be much of an opinion here, but I just wanted to say goodhye poor Mr Calley Wherever you go, so

Charles W. Drake

I REALLY BELIEVE I was beyond being shocked by anything. We have become conditioned to the twisted reasoning of our times that looks the other way when our flag and country are defamed) law enforcement is handicapped by our courts and the demands of a few are more important than the rights of the law abiding, honest citizen.

It's getting harder all the time to instill pride in our country to our children. We have reached a new low with the conviction of Lt. William Calley

> Mrs. Ronald A. Wiese Schaumburg

THE WHOLE WORLD has been aroused by the results of Lt. William Calles's military trial. As I write this letter, jury is pondering a life or death sentence for Lt. Calley. What will be the anal verdiet in this case? Can any verdie" be handed down with justice?

We can't indict Calley when our leaders are getting ready to welcome the Butcher or China into the United Nations.

CALLEY SAYS "I hope My Lai isn't a tragedy but an eye-opener, even for people who say war is hell."

So do I. I also hope they don't stop the wheels of justice with Calley, but go on to court martial Capt Medina, Westmoreland, et al. Yes, let's go right "to the top" with this eye-opener.

We showed the world that "war is hell" with the Nuremberg war crime trials. Seems history needs repeating now that our system of warfare can breed the Calleys, Medinas, etc., who are the tools of a corrupt and immoral sys-

AS SHOCKED AS I was by the senseless slaughter at My Lai, I was even more shocked by the Army's blatant use of Lt. Calley as a convenient scapegoat.

The real "guilt" in this incident rests with the superiors responsible for training and conditioning obedient soldiers to follow "blood bath" orders and also for placing inexperienced and less-qualified officers in command of men.

Lt. Calley, whatever his faults, was a victim of the system. And it's the system that should be punished, not the victim

Finally, the whole Vietnam mess has so sickened and wearied the American people that it is no wonder the public has cried out in behalf of mercy for Lt. Calley. The people are not without compassion for the horror of My Lai but feel deeply the horror of our putting Americans in the position of being forced to cope with a My Lai situation in the first place. It's all so tragically stupid.

Schools Need 'Yes' Votes

Occupation of a Methodist parsonage first as the child of a clergyman, and then as a clergyman oneself, is a peripatetic experience. Not the least of the opportunities afforded by such an existence is the opportunity to judge many and varying school systems. Having lived in School District No. 21 for nearly eight years, and having had children enrolled in six of the schools in this district. I am prepared to say that District No. 21 has the finest schools of any district where it has been my privilege to live.

The FENCE POST Letters to the Editor

The value of formal education can not be questioned by any serious person in this day and age. It is all the more reassuring to me, therefore, to know that my children are receiving the best formal education available. It is imperative, I think, that the voters of District No. 21 cast "yes" votes on April 10 to increase the education fund and building fund tax rates, and to authorize the sale of construction bonds. It is imperative, I think, to insure the continuation of the high quality of education in this district, and to insure that the children who come along after ours are not deprived of the same opportunities.

Talent For Hot-Air

I have heard many speeches and read many articles by Richard Friedman, and in them has been much about the bad things Mayor Daley is doing for Chicago. but very little that would qualify Friedman to be mayor. However, in Howard Noel's column (April 1), there seems to be one thing that would qualify him for this post. It is the fact that he is a hot-air balloonist.

I am sure this talent would help, but I would still bet on Mayor Daley to shoot it

Crisis At Harper College

Harper College is facing a crisis on April 10. James Hamill, president of Harper board of trustees, announced that he would not run for re-election. He stated that "Few people are aware of the peril facing the college." He appealed to the taxpayers of this community to study the candidates and make a choice.

Few of us can realize the headaches. tremendous time, work and responsibility that went into the organization of a new college. The board built for us a college to which every member of this community can point with pride. What did they receive from us, the taxpayers, in return? A few, but very few "thanks" for their work.

They receive no salary for their services. Nothing to pay for all the evenings they spend at the college twice a month, many times into the wee hours of the morning. The right to be questioned and criticized by the taxpayers, faculty members, administration and even as last week by a hearded student who resented being called "bearded student"

Last of all, the ever-present right to be sued as seven members of Harper Board, past and present can testify. Sued for amounts that could wipe out a lifetime of earnings by two Harper teachers who claim their civil rights were violated when they were not offered a new contract when their first one expired.

This new college had all the growing pains of any school its size. They were inevitable, but in spite of all these birth pains we have one of the best colleges in the country.

In the meantime, the taxpayers of this area have been unconcerned. We paid our taxes but stayed away from the polls by the thousands when election day came ound. We have been far too busy to worry about those things so we turned down referendums and ignored board elections. Why should Mr. Hamill be asking for help from the community when the college has our tax money? What more can they want? I know the answer to that question only because I did the thing Mr. Hamill is asking the rest of the community to do. I got involved!

My husband and I voted "no" on an educational referendum after I began to read newspaper accounts of the constant fights and charges between the board, administration and faculty members at Harper. We began to see that the taxpayers were indeed footing the bill for faculty members seeking control and sweetheart contracts. We decided that there is a vast difference between good salaries and grasping for power. The next referendum we voted "no."

There are seven members on the board. In 1969 some students at the college supported and elected a Harper student to the board in order to truly have among a very large group of good, decent, serious students that are concerned communication with the board. In 1970 a teacher from Northeastern Illinois College and a school nurse from District 54 grade school ran as a team on money and support openly solicited from the faculty and students. The teacher was elected, but the school nurse lost and is running again in this election.

It was after the Kent State flag lowering and the demonstrations that I really got involved. I was appalled by the accounts of the actions of the president of the Harper College Faculty Schate and the president of the Student Senate, both of whom were urging the students to continue the demonstrations. I was angered at the insulting remarks the Faculty Senate president made concerning the taxpayers of this community who pay his salary

After that I attended several board meetings and discovered the things that are threatening the college Harper is new; it can continue to grow only if it can get finances. The last referendum failed to carry. The public image of the college is costing it dearly in loss of mon-

Harper has a very small militant group of radical students almost lost about their school. Unfortunately, the students who really care stand back and let the radical students be their public relathe next referendum? At the election coming up, another student and a school nurse are seeking election If they are successful, the new hoard will have two students, a school nurse, and a teacher along with three community representatatives. The educators will have the majority on the board - enough to make it a self-govern-faculty. Harper has an outstanding staff with many excellent, reasonable teachers. But why, with all this talent available, do they choose a person to be their representative before the taxpayers one who has ridiculed and antagonized the like these, who can expect the success of ing school rather than community controlled. Mr Hamill, as one of the original members of the board, is retiring. But as he goes, he is making the plea to the community for us to be concerned about our college. The peril he has told us of does exist in more ways than one. There is much more than can be put on paper. If you are interested, I am at your ser-

Two Reactions To Campaign Charge

I am writing in response to an article that appeared in the March 29, issue of the Mount Prospect Herald, "Grittani Lashes Out At Opposition," Joe Grittani, campaign manager for the United Village Party slate

As an independent candidate for Village Trustee, I read with disappointment, Joe Grutani's statement that be, "objects bitterly to having two representatives on the village board from the same subdivision. I thought we had gotten far beyond the days when "where a person lived" had anything to do with his qualifications to hold public office.

I am disappointed in Joe because I beheve he served this community exceedingly well during his four years as a trustee, and he now apparently believes he worked so diligently as an alderman of a ward, rather than as a trustee for the entire village Our village form of government is based on "at large representation" and as such, it shouldn't make any difference where a candidate lives, unless all the candidates are limited in their sphere of activity and knowledge. to the area where they live. Although one of the present trustees, Daniel Ahren lives in the same subdivision as I do, it hasn't resulted in any biased votes on his part on matters that have come before the board that solely affected his area and in fact. I've seen him "pass" on several occasions where he felt voting would present a conflict. My attitude is the same, and I would expect the same objectivity from every member of the

I also wish to take issue with Joe in his evaluation of Trustee Norris. Joe said "he attends meetings but he doesn't do his homework." I have attended village board meetings for the past two years. regularity, and I don't know how Joe could make this kind of judgment in absentia. Joe hasn't been at the board meetings for the past two years, except an occasional one here and there, so his information is apparently based on what someone told him. I don't know who gave Joe this misinformation, but at least it wasn't any of the other candidates from the United Village Party slate because they haven't been there either, at least up to the time they announced their can-

I believe everyone has an obligation to give some part of their life in public service. I like our community and I want a hand in seeing it develop. I have attended our village board meetings for the past two years, both because I wanted to know what is going on and I enjoyed attending. I know a great deal about our community and what has been going on for the past two years, and I want to put that knowledge to work. As an independent candidate I want to give the voters a choice on April 20. I don't want to see three men back into office usopposed. I've been ringing door bells for the past six weeks in every precinct in Mt. Prospect to show the residents that I have a sincere desire to serve them as their elected representative. I need their support. The choice is theirs

1 WOULD LIKE TO comment on your news-article published March 29, under the headline. "Grittani Lashes Out At Opposition.

Since politicking is the subject of this article, and the Extensioneers have been drawn into the campaign battle, I as a member of this group feel there is a need for straightening the course of the political bandwagon. To say that Grittani "lashed out," "blasted at." or "objected bitterly to." is superfluous, unless the reporter wanted to see more political sparks flying around. As I saw and listened, Grittani spoke in his usual quiet, orderly manner. True, he said that Lloyd Norris. the incumbent trustee. "is a do nothing trustee " I call this a mild statement in face of the charges made by Norris, and I quote him from your article-

"They (Teichert and Grittani) urge semor citizens to 'go over there in droves so they (park district officials) can't handle everyone over there. In other words, sabotage the program."

The above statement, it seems to me, is in line with Mark Twain's suggestion. who once said, "Get your facts first, and then you can distort 'em as you please.'

Here it is, what I heard Grittani and Mayor Teichert say at our meeting (March 4), to which we had invited them to give us up-to-date information about park district plans to open a drop-in center for the senior citizens. Both men spoke in favor of this plan, stating that it was the first great step toward establishing a senior citizens center in Mount Prospect, with better things to come.

The Extensioneers objected to the plan on these points: the location was out of reach for the members living on the northside of the village and those in Prospect Heights; the golf players will create parking problems; the place was too small to meet the needs of their membership.

Now, if Norris had blamed the Extensioneers for not going along with the park district's program, he would make some sense But accuse Grittani and mayor Teichert as saboteurs, is wholly unfounded.

But here is another political pill Grittani's and mayor Teichert's suggestion that if we, the Extensioneers, went "over there in droves," was in no way intended to undermine the park district officials program. It was clarified during questioning that our presence there in large numbers would rather impress them that there is a real need for establishing an adequate senior citizens center in Mount Prospect. And the Mount Prospect Park District might some day become credited as originators, promo-

No Candidate Obstacles

At a candidates night before Timbeccest Homeowners Friday, March 26, Masor Atcher was kind enough to point out from a 15-pound book of statutes) that the circulation of literature unadorned by name or addresses of purveyors is prinishable with a $5,000 fine and up to one year in the State Penn

This message was delivered for the benefit of listering Thorsen-Medzner supporters who have been circulating an unsigned paper called the "CV (for Concerned Voters (Guide " and who, follow-Ing thanks for the enlightenment. promptly took their new information home and signed the latest print-outs by hand before execulation

Several others in the Timbercrest audence were amused to note a new addition to T.C.P. State handouts which had been running green and orange and unsigned all around the town for a month prior to this meeting. What was new? A Grossi Court address in the neat print of a hand stamp brand new on the back, just in time for the statute reading.

But aside from quick adjustments, and a passing smile, what about the reasons for such a statute? I assume, if researched, they'd have something to do with insuring the public a measure of truth, and guarding the public against undue influence emanating from irresponsible or negligent or even libelous statements that could be made freely if anonymous circulation were legal.

The law notwith-atnding, printed and unsigned statements of a condemning nature to candidates for public office, have been known to fly around on election eve. here and elsewhere Now that the law and penalty for such activity are known, citizens have more reason than ever to seriously question the reliability of unsigned allegations appearing on their doorstep at the eleventh hour before an election. This year, hopefully, there won't be any. Thanks to Mayor Atcher Mrs Thomas Smith

'Adults Only' Swimming Stirs Further Opposition

A copy of this letter is being sent to the Arlungton Heights Park District Board as I, too, strongly oppose the "adults only" time every weeknight regarding the five outdoor swimming pools. Mrs. Cunningham's suggestion mentioned in The Herald on Thursday, April 1, page 3, is an excellent one in which adult swims be offered at different locations during the

On a long, hot summer evening our children look forward to swimming. They went four nights out of five last year when the weather allowed. As parents we knew where our children were and also that they were being well-supervised while participating in their great physical and healthy activity.

I would like to know who considered our 16 and 17 year old children in this new proposal . . . (whom I regard as young adults). They will be seeking work this summer, if not all of them at least many of them will, and they also would like to swim in the evening. This is an age where it is important for them to have someplace to go and something to now the Park District Board would like to deny them this privilege. Even to try this plan for a short time to see if it is "popular" would be a great mistake in my estimation.

I have been to the Recreation Pool myself in the evening last summer and when the announcement is made "Everyone please clear the pool; this will be an adult swim" more than % of those in the pool had to get out . . . and last year I believe those who were 16 or over were considered adults.

If Mrs. Cunningham's suggestion is not acceptable let me suggest that adult swims be held from 9 until 10 p.m. Whatever the Board's final decision is I sincerely hope they will not take away those enjoyable summer evening swimming parties that our children look forward to more than the Arlington Heights Park Board apparently realizes.

In my almost two years of residency in Arlington Heights and as a subscriber of your paper ever since we moved here, I want you to know I enjoy The Herald very much. My daughter, who attends Northwestern University, recently perused the Arlington Herald back copies on file in the A.H. Library, to attain information (both pro and con) regarding the Viatorian Property Proposal. With the excellent coverage your paper has given this proposal she was able to write a term paper for her Community Politics

> Mrs. Donald DeWyze Arlington Hts.

Adults Get A Vote!

I resent the implication of the (April 1) letter that park facilities are for children and adults have no claim on any use of the pool. Setting aside a brief period for adult swimming won't deprive youngsters, and I think taxpayers are entitled to at least ONE concession. I back the park board!

Dear Reader - Infortunately the first warning that many people have concerning their heart problems is a sudden attack About half of the people with a heart attack do not live long enough to be admitted to the lospital Even complote medical checkups with a heart tracing may be normal. This is why presention of heart discuse is so important Even a good artificial heart, if it existed won't help the people who don't make it to the hospital Prevention means that if there has been a weight gain since the middle 20s or other evidence of accumulated fat, it must be eliminated by diet and proper exercise. It also means eliminating cigarettes in any amount A proper diet, a good exercise program and climinating cigarettes and coffee would probably save about half of the people who are now having the same problem your husband had

I doubt there is much you could have done even if you had been at his side. If you knew how to apply artificial heart massage through the chest and if someone had come along in time to help you there might have been a chance There are a lot of ifs Even a skilled person giving heart massage through a closed chest must produce effective circulation in about four minutes or the brain will be damaged. There is really only one good answer - prevention.

Age 57 is a common age for men to have heart attacks. There should be a lot of good years after that age. Young men do not escape either. The most common cause of sudden death in young men in the United States today is heart disease

Westminster's New Co-Pastor

Barbara Spelman's Path To The Pulpit

by DOROTHY OLIVER

The little girl who always wanted to be a nurse has wound up a minister. The Rev Barbara Spelman 29 was installed April 4 as co pastor of Westminster Pres byterain Church Dempster and Beau Drive Des Plaines

I grew up in the life of the church she said, but her background was similar to thousands of other Christians. There was Sunday School, replaced in her highschool years with a youth group.

Still there was always the desire to be a nar + When I first went to college I went to nursing school. Then I decided to be a medical missionary. There were so m inv things I'd enjoyed in high school and college that were related to the church Barbara said

She wound up graduating from Wagner College in New York with a bachelor's degree in sociology and made plans to enter McCormick Theological Seminary in Chicago

SO OFTEN PROPIE have asked mewhen I made the decision to enter the seminary and I never know what to tell them she smiled. I never remember making a conscious decision

Her summer between college and semmary was spin in Futope. I spent the money I had set aside and had to get a 100) I found one in the research depart ment of the seminary and got quite in volved in the work. When I graduated I worked for them full time until 1965

Although she was working in the church. Burbar i never thought about being a minister. I enjoyed the work in the research center, but it eventually be came more apparent that if I wanted to be more effective I should get a bachelor of dramity desire

FROM 1967 TO 1969 she studied sum mers and nights and was ordained in October 1969 to a special ministry in research and planning. Even with her degice. Barbara never pictured herself in the pulpit

Generally, women who have been or dained work in administration as Christrin education directors or assistant pasto s. Only five hundredths of one percent of the ministers in the Presbyterian church are women and of that small percentage only half are pastors or co-pas-

They don't discourage a woman in seminary Barbara said but thay don't do a very good job of preparing you for what you re going to face when you get out I haven't run into any difficulty, but then I went into a job I was working at

BARBARA'S FIRST ENCOUNTER with Westminster was in 1966 when she did an evaluation of the church's experimental working pastor plan

The church is among approximately five Presbyterian churches whose ministers work a full time lay job and serve as pastors at no pay. The 20 families in the church have taken over responsibilities such as planning worship, and the only duties left strictly to their pastors are the giving of the sacraments and moderating meetings of the session and congregation

"Bound" is their covenant and each member - down to the preschoolers contributes to the life of the church

I got to know the people by working with them 'Barbara said "I really got excited at what was going on "

SHF RETURNED TO the church a second time for another evaluation and decided to make Westminster her home

"One of the most exciting things I felt, was when a family took responsibility for worship services A little third grader stood and read the scriptures. It's great to see the kids so excited about what's going on in their church. They feel the church is a place that cares about them, where they can take part

When the congregation decided to add another minister. Barbara was a natural choice Members voted to appoint her copastor Feb 7 and the appointment received final approval from the Presbytery of Chicago

Speaking Of...

Choosey-Cues For College

by KAY MARSH

If there's a college-bound high school senior in your family or circle of friends you probably notice that he or she is suddents very interested in the mail He may even make special trips to the post office or rush home to meet the mailman But this, too, will pass It's April, and the voice of the admissions officer is heard in the land. For this is the month when the more prestigious colleges and universities send out their acceptances or rejections

Fat letters, of course are acceptances They are fat because they contain assorted forms, sheets and other information for the new freshman. Thin letters are rejections, since it takes only one sheet to say "No," even as tactfully and politely as admissions offices do Though one highly regarded Eastern college, at least last year, sent out "thin fat" letters a note plus a card to return

if you chose to accept the acceptance) CHOOSEY-CUES: Choosing a college depends on so many factors You may judge curriculum, faculty and library facilities while he ponders dorm rules and the prospects for next year's football team, or even the number of parking spaces on campus And don't think he won't know the exact distance from Campus X to Campus A, where his girl will be in September' Here, however, are three more important criteria to keep in mind - a sort of "A-B-C" for you and

"A" is for acceptance, the first "must" If your would-be freshman gets all rejection letters, he probably hasn't applied to the colleges that are right for him There are still openings in good schools, and a place for him. He may want to investigate the fast-growing community colleges Or perhaps he'll want to contact one of several clearinghouses that match up students with schools

(A friend in a university registrar's office says that one reputable, effective organization is the A C A C College Admissions Center of the National Association of College Admissions Counselors, in Evanston, Illinois But check your high school guidance counselor first for his help and recommendations)

"B" is for budgets, and college costs go up every year. Yale recently announced a raise in combined charges for tuation, room and board from $3,900 to $4,400 per year. Yet your freshman can limit out-of-pocket expenses to a few hundred dollars if he attends a community college and lives at home

AND "C" IS FOR CLASSMATES whose abilities and attitudes largely determine the general atmosphere on a campus Henry David Thoreau Harvard 1837, stressed this in his famous chapter on Economy' in 'Walden Noting that at Cambridge College the mere rent of a student's room is thirty dollars each year," Thoreau complained that those things for which the most money is demanded are never the things which the student most wants "Tutton," he wrote, 'is an important item in the term bill, while for the far more valuable education which he gets by associating with the most cultivated of his contemporaries no charge is made?

But how do you judge? A campus visit or a talk with present students is one of the best ways to get a "feel" for a particular school Next best is checking your library for such books as Lawrence Handel's College Confidential, published in 1969 This book attempts to give you the general atmosphere and reputation of many different colleges, in the opinions of the students themselves. You may find yourself in violent disagreement with what is says about your alma mater, or you may think it 'tells it like it is,"

Either way several undergraduates I know mentioned the book and suggested it as one your high school senior might profitably read

IS COLLEGE REALLY WORTH the cost and effort? Yes, at least in terms of financial reward. The Census Bureau reported last fall that men 25 years of age and over can expect a lifetime income of nearly $580 000 if they d had at least four years of college. Ten years earlier, the estimate was about $465 000. So costs are going up, but so are returns. And may all your returns be fat ones starting with fat letters of acceptance from your student's first choice college

Lady Welder Tries Hard To Stay Feminine

hy RUTH YOUNGBLOOD

HONOLULU (UPI) - Beneath the face shield, helmot heavy denim shirt and pants is a blonde welder named De-

For the last 18 years, Desire Brooks has welded everything from the booster rockets in the initial Apollo space flights to torpedo tubes and luxury yachts

The only female member of the Hawan Chapter of the American Welding Society advises women planning to join the ranks that the occupation and feminimity do mix but only with a lot of work at both

"Welding takes strength and fortitude," Mrs Brooks said "These qualities plus the heavy clothing make it easy to forget you're a woman" Strength is particularly important in states such as Hawan which have no law regulating the maximum weights women may handle

"I've found myself at one end of a 500pound rail with a man at the other, both of us lifting it, 'Mrs Brooks said

MRS BROOKS, married recently, said, "It takes a real effort not to become brazen and hard You have to keep reminding yourself you're a woman and behave like one

There s a trim figure under the leather jacket she often wears to keep the sparks off when welding She pulled off her helmet face mask and gloves and revealed flattering blonde hair, green eyes and nails manicured and polished

"I have to shampoo about every three days or wear a wig." she said Mrs Brooks, who now makes railings for Island Steel & Welding Ltd came to Honolulu in 1965 after extensive experience in California, including the work on booster rockets at Rocketdyne at Canoga Park where she worked in the research and development division

"I'VE ALWAYS been mechanically inclined," she said, "but I didn't plan on becoming a welder When I couldn't find a clerical job 18 years ago an employer asked me if I could learn to weld I fig ured I could do anything anyone else could do, and I ve been at it ever since

To the girl who's looking to be a welder Mrs Brooks warned that male colleagues aren t always enthusiastic about a woman on the job

On a construction job one of the guys almost fell off his tractor into a quarry when he saw me she said I know I have to work harder and do a better job When I apply for a job I stress my qual ifications and experience, not the fact I'm female

Married to a police officer, $M_{1\,S}$ Brooks finds her welding training frequently pays off around the house "I'm always catching on to things that break down," she said But she added "The trouble is I'm often too tired from work to fix them "

Dear Dorothy: Have always wondered if mushrooms had any nutritive value or whether they were just used for decorative purposes. Do you know? -Mrs. Geo.

Mushrooms, if used in sufficiently large amounts - say one cup or more can be considered a good source of niacin and iron. However, even if just used for decorative purposes, mushrooms have a way of transforming the most simple dish into a gourmet delight. Fortunately, they're quite low in calories so they are an additional treat for the weight-watchers.

Dear Dorothy: I finally solved the problem of rusting metal patio furniture. When this furniture is new, apply a generous amount of automobile wax to all exposed metal parts. Just follow the directions on the can as if you were waxing a car. If you live near water as I do. or in an area with bad weather, you might apply two or even three coats of wax. Repeat the waxing every year. And if your furniture is older and has lost some of its sheen, use automobile polish before applying the wax - John D.

You can bet I'll jump next time I glimpse oven smoke. It can ruin an uncovered dish. I put a favorite cheese and noodle casserole in the oven after preheating. Observed a little smoke coming out of the sides, looked in and thought that there must be some spilled grease somewhere in the oven and shrugged it off. But the casserole came out, bubbly, beautiful and unedible. The smoke had so thoroughly penetrated the contents, it had to be thrown out.

Some Guidelines For Allowances

When parents determine a child's allowance, they should not be guided by what they received as a child Today things cost more Children growing up today are accustomed to having more money at an earher age and spending more. It's a natural result of our affluent society.

Here are some guidelines for establishing an allowance

- I Determine the amount needed for da it and weekly expenses
- 2 Be sure the child knows the ex-

Park District Races Decided In Two Villages

It's Barber, Bock, Hum

Winston Knolls, Hoffman Estates Park Diffict newest acquisition turned out enn iss to elect two of the three park di trict commissioners selected in a moderate voter turn out yesterday

Crosen to serve full terms on the park. board were Thomas Barber, a resident of the High Point sea along with Claude Crase of Winston Knolls

Elected to fill the two year term was Don A. Wade, also of Winston Knolls

Wide defeated Bill Pichler, a long time member of Hoffman Estates Athlet ic Association Pichler had been chosen by the park board to fill the vacancy created last December

WADES VOTE total was 631 com pared with 303 going to Pichler

Burber totled P" votes for one of the fill term posts and Crisc collected 358.

I will certainly uphold my comm truent to serve the whole park district a though I am somewhat disappointed that 18' residents of Winston Knols chose to cast only one vote in today's election. Ba ber told The Herald

Bernard M. (Bud) Bartosch, an in combent and original member of the tack board was third runner up in the election with a total of 330 votes

Edwin L. Frink was unsuccessful with 245 votes. Frank also ran and lost inthe 1969 park board election.

Other runners up included Robert Hillcer 22 cores and William Wermes who traced F otes

Crase, Wade And Doherty

An incumbent Schaumburg park district ticket was successful yesterday in the reelection of Robert F Bock to a sec-With a total of 373 votes, Bock who has served on the park board since its inception was returned to office along with Raymond C Hum an appointed incumbent elected to fill an unexpired fourvear term

Also chosen for a six-year term was Michael Doherty a resident of Lancer Park subdivision who was announced as a third slate member last week

Hum received a total of 380 votes defeating Harley Shackelton, a representative of Schaumburg Athletic Association who came in with 166 ballots

SHACKELTON WAS part of a three m in team proposed by the athletic association consisting of Gordon Frank who received 1391 votes and Ken Zonca who totaled 130 ballots in yesterday's vote

Runner up in the race was Joseph So sine a former park board member who resigned several years ago to move to California Sosine totaled 81 votes in the four precincts reporting in Schaumburg Park District

Paul Derda director of parks and recreation said. The vote was just fantas referring to the voter turnout

Athletic association candidates were all residents of the Weathersfield subdivision. The victors. Bock from Sunset Hills Doherty from Lancer Park and Hum from Timbercrest represent a geographical spread of the park district boundaries

Henover Park resident Arthur Abrahamson has been es of Korin Abrahamson Korin's classmates established the tablished by sixth grade students of the Hanover High lands School Sherwood Spatz of Hanover Park, who is chairman of the permanent fund raising committee of the American Cancer Society in the Northwest Subur-

A PERMANENT CANCER memorial in the name of ban Area accepted a $15 donation from Peter Honnen memorial area, residents may add to in memory of her father who died last month and as part of their crusade against cancer

Skinner, Tresselt Win Seats

Mrs Ruth Tresselt and Frank N Skinner were the winners in the library board election yesterday in Schaumburg Township with an unusually high voter turnout recorded

Mrs Tresselt tallied 635 votes, Skinner, 605 John Thomas Culberson took third place in a race for three library board seats holding four-year terms with 597 votes

Richard C Grote and Mrs Sharon A Wingelnik were voted uncontested six year terms with votes of 840 and 774 re spectively Mrs Elaine Robinder was given a two year term with 890 votes She also was unopposed

Total number of ballots cast were not available but from at last 30 precincts 960 persons voted in the electon Last Au gust when the library held a bond refer endum for a new addition only about 800

TOWNSHIP OFFICIALS attributed the large turnout to village park board elections in Hoffman Estates and Schaumburg which also were held yesterday

As precincts reported tension ran high in to enship offices white Mrs Tresselt led Culberson by only one vote with 30 precincts reporting Precinct 11 the final of the 3! reporting to headquarters, de termined the race

Mrs Tresselt and Skinner both were appointed to the board over the past vear Culberson had no previous experience in public office. The other three

Mrs. Schoeld: Formal Plan

Township voters residing within Dist. 54 boundaries will elect two school board members for three-year terms from a field of four candidates. Each candidate was interviewed by The Heraid staff. Stories, outlining each candidate's viewpoints, are appearing in The Herald this

by NANCY COWGER As a candidate to the Schaumburg

Township Dist. 54 school board, Mrs. Connie Schoeld advocates a more formal committee system to work for the benefit of the district.

As it is, said Mrs. Schoeld, committees have no definite work assignments, and no specific members. Any person who wishes to serve on a committee need only tell district officials or the committee chairman, and attend meetings.

Because of this, said Mrs. Schoeld, a committee could easily be stacked with members who would vote a particular way on a certain issue, and who might not have the best interests of the district

Committee matters are "too important functions to leave to whoever can come," said Mrs. Schoeld.

She also would like to see one of the more influential board committees, that on buildings and sites, split into two groups. The chairman of one would attend all meetings of zoning boards of villages in the district. The other could handle negotiations with developers, she

MRS. SCHOELD also feels strongly about double shifting children in schools, She said she would prefer to see class sizes increased in the future, if it would prevent double shifting to handle excess student population.

"The student-teacher ratio makes no difference. It is the quality of teachers" that matters, she said. "If 30 kids per room would save us from split sessions, I'm all for it," she added.

Running a 12-month-school year would not solve overcrowding problems, said Mrs. Schoeld, because of increased ex-

(Editor's Note: Saturday Schaumburg plan. Teacher salaries, which make up 80 to 85 per cent of school costs, would be increased to cover additional workmonths, and schools would have to be converted, adding such items as air conditioning, she said. And with Dist. 54 elementary children graduating into Dist. 211, which does not have a 12-month year, changing to the full year system would not be feasible, she said.

Neither would Mrs. Schoeld approve use of individually guided education in Dist. 54. "I approve of the open classroom concept, but for a district not as financially strapped as we are right now," she said. She feels the Dist. 54 administration "pushed through" a plan for that concept too quickly, and agrees with recent board denial of it. Mrs. Schoeld said the plan would have been a pilot program that was not capable of being used throughout the district, and therefore was not relevant.

She would not like to see such a system used in only part of the school system, rather than all of it.

Relations between the school board and Hoffman Estates village government have been extremely good, said Mrs. Schoeld, but she feels the village of Schaumburg has not been effective enough in securing developers' dona-

"Whatever we get from Schaumburg will be through our own efforts. Their money is all going into civic centers." she said, accusing the village of parochialism. She feels relations with Schaumburg need improvement, but said she does not know how it can be accom-

Mrs. Schoeld would approve granting teachers the right to strike on one condition, she said, naming the elimination of tenure as that condition.

THE CANDIDATE declined to comment on the district's cold weather lunch program, saying she preferred to wait until completion of a study of this year's success. She did say, however, she felt the program could be shortened to three months instead of four. The district evenpenses that would result from such a tually will "go into a hot lunch program.

but it is a matter of time and money." she said.

Mrs. Schoeld advocates expansion of the district bus policy to include all kindergarten children and all children living north of Hassell Road, as a "safety fac-

As a candidate, Mrs. Schoeld feels she offers an understanding of financial matters, leadership ability, familiarity with parliamentary procedure and an interest in board activities.

Outreach Plan Review Is Slated

mittee members were expected to review a proposed $18,025 Youth Outreach Program Tuesday to determine if the program proposed by the youth commission can be afforded and is sensible.

Frank Alexa, youth commission chairman outlined the program, to be established under the auspices of the Twinbrook YMCA, to the board of trustees Monday and they referred it to the finance committee.

As Alexa urged acceptance of the program he stressed that Hoffman Estates growth indicated a need for a youth coordinator working exclusively for the vil-paying double for overlapping services Trustee Mrs Virginia Hayter said it may be better to fund through the township so more workers could be hired but agreed with Hennessy that overlapping services were bad.

THE TRUSTEES and village president did not argue that a program proposed was not needed.

Alexa in a nine page report presented statistics both national and local that showed why a program was neces-

The report shows Hoffman Estates is not unique in the increased problems in schools and contacts between police and youthful offenders,

Alexa said the youth commission working within the YMCA program would benefit by its organization. Although funding would be provided by the village board, the youth coordinator would be under the direction of the committee. Evaluation would be done jointly by the youth commission and YMCA.

The youth coordinators chief role would be to exercise professional leadership. The coordinator under the authority of the youth committee would have the responsibility to help problem youths become redirected toward productive lives

HIS DUTY WOULD be to recommend mentation, and coordinate activities among a number of community groups and agencies all seeking the same goal.

The report went into the coordinators exact duties and asks that a master's degree in social science or social psychology with a minimum of three years experience in socal case or youth work be considered as one of his requirements

Alexa said the Hoffman Estates Youth Commission, if it received the village hoard's approval, would contract yearly with the YMCA for the program. Hiring of personnel is done with the advice and consent of the commission, and the coordinator would report to the commission

GOP Will Oppose Davies; He's Unperturbed

Republican candidates for trustee in Hanover Park have pledged to oppose reappointment of Village Attorney William Davies and challenge "he used his position to promote his own personal philosophies and programs '

In a joint statement GOP candidates Frank Dalla Valle Jr., William Rietz, and Thomas Evert vow, if elected to office to oust Davies

"I don't care," said Davies when contacted by The Heald. Davies noted that the candidates yow to remove him from his appointive position was ridiculous since it is up to the village president to make appointments and then up to the board of trustees as a whole to approve or disapprove that appointment.

Davies added, "The condidates further unplications that I gypped the villabe by the lang up my fees leaves them open to sait I will not be reluctant to file "

Dalla Valle said, "Since Davies initial rope at most in 1969 he has in our opinion. commutally used his position to promote his own philosophies, and used the board meetings to expound views not directly pertaining to legal matters."

DALLA VALLE said the present board of trustees who confirmed his appointment in 1969, re-confirmed in in 1970 and who will probably re-appoint him in 1971 if they are re-elected have neglected their responsibility as elected officials to

Dalla Valle says further that "Davies an appointee has been allowed to dictate the course of Hanover Park."

Dalla Valle adds that incumbent Trustees James Scheuber and Louis Barone running for re-election are insulting the intellegence of the residents by asking people to vote for them as members of the Hanovers Own Party after the performance and lack of responsibility they have shown as members of the Peoples Own Party

EVERT SAID Scheuber's and incumbent Trustee Jim Lewis's eligibility as trustees was challenged after the last election and a "convenient" decision by Davies decided their eligibility. "Since then the lack of resources by residents to challenge that opinion in the courts has flavored many decisions regarding the future of Hanover Park," said Rietz,

"Scheuber and Lewis could have been challenged by any resident without cost to them," said Davies as he points out that no challenge was made.

Rietz goes on to say "no longer must the resident be satisfied with 'it's my legal opinion and that's the law, comments from Davies."

The attorney argues that he does state the law and his position demands that he give his legal opinion.

Rietz said that Davies accepted a $46,000 fee on a $2,300,000 bond issue and that that fee represents approximately 430 per cent more than the 1970 publishper cent more than the 1970 published Chicago Bar Association minimum fee schedule on bond issues.

Davies stated he did collect $46,000 but said Retz's figures are wrong, Davies said he worked over a year on two separate bond issues. The first was for a sewerage bond issue for$2,3 million and when after a year's efforts it could not be consummated a second $3 million bond issue combining both water and sewer departments was successfully conducted. Davies added "that together the bond issues totalled $5.3 milliion and my fee was less than one per cent."

DAVIES ANSWERED charges that he represents four bodies as false and said that he represented six municipal bodies.

He is village attorney for both Streamwood and Hanover Park village boards and park districts and attorney for the Ontarioville Fire District and Hanover Township.

Davies stated the charge that he is making exorbitant profits as Hanover attorney lead him to make the following disclosures he has in the past felt were personal.

"In the four years, I have been Hanover Township attorney I have never submitted a bill or been paid a fee; during the two and half years I have acted as Streamwood park district attorney my fee has been given back to the district for recreational equipment."

Davies added that his entire salary as Streamwood village attorney has been used to fund 29 scholarships he has granted to local area high school children and that for the past six years he has funded the Lynn-Eugene shoe school fund.

RIETZ SAID Davies fees have never been questioned by the present board. "Legal suit fees, a salary, attorney fees, prosecuting attorney fees not only in Hanover Park but in other bodies as well are legal perhaps but not acceptable," said Rietz.

Davies said previous Hanover Park attorneys did not as he has act as prosecutors, defend suits and attend all board

Davies claims he has never been paid for, or submitted a bill for any other suit but the $4 million Pink Mist civil right suit and works for a $550 a month retainer as Hanover Park attorney. He also was paid $46,000 for his work on the wa-

But Thorsen feels Mayor Atcher "is only partially correct." The zoning code does exclude garage space, but the building ordinance refers only to habitable living space requirements, and makes no mention of garage space, said Thorsen. The section referring to habitable liv-

Democrat Answers GOP Query

Republicans faced to look beyond the sin face when investigatin the platform Democrats are running on in the upcoming Hoffman Estates trustee election, said cardidate Barbara Jean Sherman.

Either the Republicans have a severe reading problem or they're a little on the dense side 1, she said

The Democrats had a platform plank which read. "Initiate environmental controls within the village and establish a Village Board of Health to direct matters in ecology and create public health ser-

REPUBLICANS QUESTIONED the plank asking if the Democrats know that a board of health already exists i Hoffman Estates

"I can only state that they (The Republicans) did not bother reading our enveronmental plank of the platform to its completion," said Mrs. Sherman

"It states that we will establish the board of health to direct matters in ecology. This functio si not being handled by any agency within the village.

framework "Are we to believe that just because a board exists it is functioning to its fullest". It appears the Republicans would like us to look at the surface structure and not at the deep underlying function,"

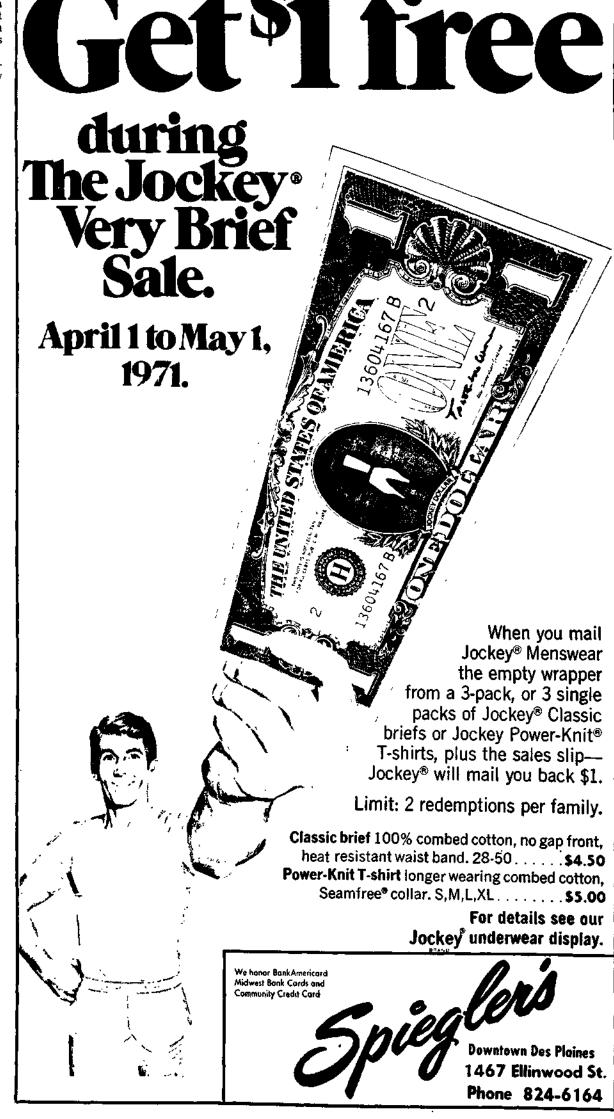

she added "To believe the board of health is fully functioning would be fortunate for the Republicans but unfortunate for Hoffman Estates citizens, whose money is being spent to support a mere facade," said Mrs. Sherman

Southland To Appeal Sewer, Water Decision

The SouthLand Corporation, which last week lost its suit against Hoffman Estates demanding water and sewer utilities will go to the Appellate Court with its case, said afformer Sidney Karasik.

The original suit was filed over a year ago when the Village of Hoffman Estates refused to permit a tie in to its water and sewer lines for a Midas Muffler shop, to be built on the north side of Golf Road, next to the 7 Eleven Store in Schaumburg. The Southland Corp. owns the 7 Eleven store and the adjoining land when the Midas Muffler shop is to be failt.

Vil. ige officials felt Hoffman Estates

did not have the surplus water to meet the needs of Schaumburg neighbors, refused to serve Midas and later passed ordinances forbidding the use of Hoffman Estates utilities by non resident businesses and housing

Judge Edward Egan of the Cook County Circuit Court, first ruled in favor of the Southland Corporation Edward Hofert. Hoffman Estates village attorney, had the decision referred back to Egan in the Appellate Court on grounds that Egan had not received all the evidence in the case.

On March 30 Egan reversed his initial decision and ruled in favor of Hoffman Estates

Karasik. Southland's attorney, this week said his client's appeal will be based on the opinion that the situation was fixed at the time the water and sewer service were originally requested.

Because Hoffman Estates was providing water to the Amber Rose Lounge, across from Midas' site, and providing water and sewer to other non-residents, the precedent was set by which the village could not refuse service to Midas, Karasik said.

He also disputed Hoffman Estates' right to pass ordinances that exclude outsiders from using the village water and sewer after the precedent was set

Karasik added that if the village had founded the utility company the legal picture would be different. He believed that because the utility company was founded to serve both Hoffman Estates and surrounding areas that the right to refuse service is invalid.

Karasik said the Southland appeal can be filed within 30 days of Judge Egan's March 30 decision. He added that he'll file before the deadline.

Ross, Nizzi Elected Park Commissioners

Robert Ross and Gus Nizzi were elected commissioners of the Wheeling Park District vesterday

A total of 472 voters cast ballots in the election Ross won with an unofficial total of 310 votes and Nizzi had 308. The third candidate. Melvin Peterson, had 248 votes when the hallot counting was completed.

Park board members will canvass the votes and make the election results official at a meeting at 7 pm. Thursday

The board is expected to appoint Nizzi to fill a vacancy on the board until be can be sworn in as an elected commissioner in May

YESTERDAY'S election was the first time there have been two polling places, one on each side of the district, for a

No Credentials For Write-Ins

The write-in candidates running on the Wheeling Independent Party (WHIP) ticket for the Wheeling Village board will not be allowed to have election credentials for poll watchers or chmallengers. Village Pres. Ted C. Scanlon said Mon-

In an impassioned speech at a village board meeting, Scanlon said "We have done everything we could possibly do to verify credentials to people deserving of

Scanlon made his statement after having Deputy Village Clerk Roberta Krause read a letter from the chief clerk of the Cook County clerk's election department saving write-in candidates were not entitled to have election credentials.

Scanlon told an audience of approximately 50 people that he, village clerk Evelyn Diens, and village trustee Peter Egan, who served on the electoral board which removed the WHIP candidates from the ballot, were being treated un-

"WE FEEL WE are the opposition in this election rather than the Active Citizens Ticket (ACT) party," Scanlon said referring to WHIP criticism of the electoral boards decision.

"We have spent many hours of our time even when trustee Egan was hospitalized . . . we tried to provide the necessary legal work for all concerned in the election," Scanlon said.

"We have sought legal opinions and are still trying to seek credentials for the various people.

"We now feel we have exhausted every means to try and provide the necessary credentials. We therefore feel future criticism is unjust," Scanlon said.

"We as elected officials never object to criticism because this job draws criticism whether warranted or not. At this point the hour has come to a close. Mrs. Diens, Trustee Egan and I can no longer accept the criticism, the phone calls that come to our homes.

"TONIGHT AS I walked in I received a call that I'm an unfit father because my wife died and I acted as chairman to knock a party off the ticket to give this village a one sided ticket.

"The ACT party says I've done nothing to assist them. WHIP says I'm out to crucify them . . . You are damned if you do and damned if you don't.

"I accept the criticsm for the progress of this community. I ask for unity,'

Scanlon said his decision was based on a letter from Michael E. Lavelle, chief clerk of the election department of the county clerk's office. Lavelle's letter said write in candidates are not entitled to election credentials for poll watchers or "The legislative reasoning for the foregoing is sound since any number of persons could merely announce as candidates and flood the polling place with watchers, disrupting the conduct of the election," Lavelle wrote.

VILLAGE CLERK Evelyn Diens said yesterday that she and Scanlon had also talked to circuit court judge Harry Comerford about election credentials for the WHIP party, but that he told them the write-in candidates were not entitled to any credentials.

She said the judge said the candidates could seek a writ from a court forcing the credentials to be written, but quoted him as saying that no court would issue said he had also talked to Comerford. said the judge told him there was no way the village could be forced to give credentials to the write in candidates.

"He told me they could give them to us if they wanted to be nice, but that we couldn't force them to do it," Fagan

He said the party was investigating the possibility of a court writ.

Duncan Is 'Concerned' For Future

by ANNE SLAVICEK

Donald Duncan is concerned about the future development of Wheeling and critical of the village board's attitude toward growth. Duncan, who is seeking write-in election as a full term village trustce, is running on the Wheeling Independent Party (WHIP) slate.

He says that the village board should return to the master plan developed for the village in 1965.

The plan lays out areas to be developed in the future, segregating industrial, business and residential development, planning school sites and anticipating apartment projects.

Election '71

But the plan has not been followed. Duncan says. "Now the board is just changing zoning I over the place without any regard to the master plan," Duncan THE CANDIDATE explains that his experience as a member of the village's industrial commission have given him an insight into the needs of the village. Duncan is critical of the village administration for not backing industrial commission efforts to get lower freight shipping rates for the village.

"We may lose two businesses now in our industrial area because of freight rates." he said, explaining that the commission and area businesses have sought a truck terminal in the village and asked the Illinois Commerce Commission to make Wheeling a part of the area charging Chicago metropolitan area freight rates, which are less expensive than the rates now paid by Wheeling companies

"The benefits in this program are that the student gets practical experience in a job he may want to pursue after graduation. And the employer has a potential employee he has trained himself. The DO student who goes on to a technical college gets some background knowledge in a job that should help him in college. said Bill Maki, coordinator of the DO program.

Maki's 24 students are working as beauticians, mechanics, machinists, dental assistants and a variety of additional skilled jobs this year.

Union Steward Eyes Board Negotiations

by BETSY BROOKER

Bruce Wallace is a union steward at Illinois Bell Telephone Co. He believes this experience has made him a valuable member of the school board's negotiating committee

In his three years on the board, he has served on almost all of the board committees. In addition to assisting in teachers' negotiations he has updated the policy manual

Wallace is running for relection to continue this work. He feels "A board member owes it to the district to run for another term. It takes a board member two years to get his feet on the ground But I think he should leave after two terms because he gets to the point where he can't see the forest through the

Wallace termed the relationship between the teachers and school board "good" during negotiations "Last year we rewrote the professional negotiations agreement in seven months

WALLACE PRAISED the district's moral salary system, because "it recognizes and rewards professionalism However he said the system has "some bugs. As the system works now, we will go broke '

"The system gives the teachers both a cost of living increase and a merit increase. The second year's increase is based on a base salary plus the first year's cost of living merease. The second year's increase should be based only on a base salary."

The teachers' salary demands for next year must be "very reasonable" to meet the school district's budget, said Wallace "I would hate to see a walkout I have told the teachers I will request their certificates be pulled if it happens. The district's financial situation is critical, according to Wallace: "We have a deficit of over $300,000." He said the situation began five to seven years ago as a result of "the state not giving the district enough aid and the residents not passing referendum's.'

"The board kept borrowing and borrowing, hoping a referendum would pass and that more aid would come in.' added Wllace

Wallace is not optimistic that the state can offer a way out now "We need both a referendum requesting more revenue. and cuts in expenses

HE SAID THE board cannot rely on cuts alone to erase the deficit because it would wipe out the education program. Most of the cuts already made haven't cut into the education program. But from here on out they will. I think there will probably have to be more cuts.

He added, "I don't think we will ever cut back to the basic curriculum pro-

"The cuts should have been made three years ago added Wallace He said he voted against making cuts in the summer of 1969 because "there was a strong feeling a referendum would pass When we voted again on the cuts, I changed my mind

Wallace does not believe the district can pass a referendum at this time because of the tight economy shouldn't try again until we are fairly sure we can pass it maybe at the end of this year

The district's financial situation has also caused problems in such areas as insurance coverage and vandalism said Wallace "We can't afford to meet the requirements to continue past insurance coverage. Hopefully we will be able to get coverage through cooperation of the

Bruce Wallace

Northwest Education Cooperative," Concerning the vandalism problem, he said, "We have to get better police protection. "We can get it either through a municipal department or our own volunteer department."

Wallace considers the current education program "very good" and gives most of the credit to Supt Edward Grodsky "That is his specialty, and that is one reason we hired him. I rely quite heavily on him and the principals in this

WIIIP Lashes Electoral Board

Wheeling Independent Party (WHIP) candidates said that a lack of time and money prevented them from going to court to challenge an electoral board ruling that eliminated them from the ballot in the April 20 election

Answering a statement Issued by the electoral board last week, the WHIP candidates yesterday disputed the electoral board's contention that the party knew a court would uphold the electoral board

"Two factors affected our decision lack of time and lack of money. If we had appealed we have no doubt that the circuit court would have overruled the decision to remove all candidates, WHIP candidate Otis Hedlund said.

"At the hearing on Feb 26, the hoard denied our attorney's request to file a post hearing brief. They said they wanted to be able to make a prompt decision. We were notified of that decision two weeks later on March 12, hardly a prompt decision.

"We then realized the court decision on the appeal might come after the electon," the WIHP statement explained.

'Due to our limited funds the cost of an appeal was prohibitive Remember, our campaign funds consist of small contributions from individuals," Hedlund

"The fact remains that there were enough unchallenged signatures on the petitions to make them valid. The electoral board statement that when one candidate is disqualified the law requires all other members of his party to be disqualified was disputed by our attorney and never answered to our satisfaction,' the WHIP statement charged.

"We filed four candidates in good faith according to information we had received assuring us the candidates did meet residential requirements. According to our legal counsel the responsibility for our incomplete slate lies with the electoral board." the statement said.

Thompson Negotiates Settlement For School Site Controversy

The solution to the school site controversy in the Lake County portion of Buffalo Grove is apparently now in the hands of the Buffalo Grove Village Beard

At Monday night's village board meeting Village Pres Donald Thompson announced that he had negotiated a settlement between School Dist. 96 and Levitt and Sons, developers of the Strathmore Steatherson.

Under the terms of the settlement, Levit would sell to acres of land in Strathmore units 11, 12, and 13 to the school district for $150,000 if the village board approves a condominium and townhouse development Levitt has planned for an area north of Ric 83

The area known as the Wagner farm, and side the village limits. The village must annex it and approve zoning for the development under the terms of the agreement

SCHOOL DIST, 96 is engaged in condemonstron proceedings against Levitt to of cain land for a school site in Lake. County in 1969 when the village board approved the plans for Levitt units 11, 12, and 11 no provisions were made for a

Thompson said he presented the proposal to the Dist. 96 board "about twoand one-half weeks ago." The school board, he said, agreed to it in executive session. He presented the same proposal to Levitt officials tast Friday and they also agreed to it. Thompson said.

The official annexation request is expected to be made in about two weeks,

"District 96 has agreed to purchase the land and they are in substantial conformity with plans to annex a piece of property 60 acres in size (the Wagner farm)," Thompson said. The new Levitt development would consist of 500 "condominium townhouse-type" units, according to Thompson. Thompson said the school district "has no objections and will receive no financial contributions from the new development. These offers and acceptance of negotiation figures are without prejudice and will not affect the lawsuit if the board does not accept the final plans " EXPLAINING THAT statement Thompson said, "the lawsuit will be held in abeyance" until the board votes on the planned development.

"It is up to the board to approve. The agreement is contingent on the board approving the annexation of the Wagner property." Thompson said.

James Shirley, president of the Strathmore Homeowners Association, a group that has been active in pressing for additional school sites, had no immediate comment on the agreement announced by Thompson. He said his group would have to study it more before making a

No Offer To School Board

Arthur Edmunds, president of the Dist. 96 school board, said that "the board has received no official offer" from Levitt and Sons concerning a 10-acre school

However, Edmunds said that the board does expect the developers to make an offer to sell the land to the district for

"We have indicated that we want the land, but we are waiting for a concrete, bona fide offer from Levitt."

The land is located in Strathmore units 11, 12, and 13, the same area in which the school district is condemning 15 acres for a school site. Proceedings in the case are still pending.

Village Pres. Donald Thompson announced at Monday's village board meeting that Dist. 96 had approved Levitt's offer to sell the land to the district if Buffalo Grove annexed a 500 unit condominium and townhouse development Levitt has proposed for a 60 acre tract north of Rte. 63 in Lake County.

Edmunds told the Herald that the school board has taken no official action on the Levitt offer because no such offer has been made. However Edmunds added, "from the conversations we have been having, we expect an offer to be

Edmunds said if Levitt does offer to sell the 10 acres, "I expect the board to act favorably on it."

Edmunds also said the district has "set aside $150.000 for the purchase of school land in the Strathmore area and estimated that it would cost between $1 million and $1,500,000 to build a new school. He called the land "an excellent site for

The problem of school sites in the Lake County section of the Strathmore devellage board approved the last three units gan.

of Strathmore without making any accommodations for a school site.

The plans were approved despite objections from School Dist. 96 and a recommendation by the village plan commission that the plans be rejected because there were no school sites.

Instead of accepting land for schools, the village decided to accept land to allow construction of a sewerage treatment plant in another area of the village.

In November of 1969, Thompson met with school officials to discuss obtaining land for a school site. At that time Thompson said there was a site on Arlington Heights and Checker Roads, and listed other areas that could be used for a school. School officials rejected the Arlington Heights Road site as too small and told Thompson that the other alternatives were unacceptable as school

The situation remained in limbo until February of 1970 when the school district filed condemnation proceedings against Levitt for 15 acres of land in Strathmore units 11, 12, and 13. The case went to trial in July of last year and the court set the price of the land at $350,000, or about $23,000 an acre. A new trial was ordered because certain evidence introduced by Levitt was ruled in-

The new trial was never held, because Levitt appealed the decision for a new trial and a series of continuances were

The offer that Thompson outlined Monday night called for the purchase of 10 acres for $150,000 or about $15,000 an acre. Edmunds indicated that was the price the school district had planned on paying when it first asked to buy the land before the condemnation suit he

Berth expressed surprise at the concern and interest candidates have expressed for the need to update the village master plan and zoning ordinances. "It's amazing to me to see in campaign platforms the things we (the plan commission) and myself have been advocating for the past couple of years."

Berth also called for hiring of a "competent village manager and stressed the need for "realisite budgeting, both short term and long term to anticipate some of these expenditures that come up."

BERTH CITED A public relations problem as the reason for the village not being unified. "We need programs to make the village government more responsive to the needs of the people. We need a more effective and harder working public relations committee. We have to encourage and promote village-wide activities such as Buffalo Grove Days"

Berth also said there is a problem "in the development of a sound commercial and manufacturing base. It is very critical, and there is an urgent need for a commission to work on the development of our industrial park to promote in-

by SUE JACOBSON

Some 150 Wheeling High School students are "learning by doing" this year. The students, members of Wheeling High's cooperative work-study programs, attend school part of the day and spend the remainder working in various local stores and industries, receiving high school credit for the work.

There are four different work-study programs currently going on at Wheeling High School, each designed to cater to the various needs of individual students.

The diversified occupations (DO) program trains students for skilled jobs in professions, trades and industry. The distributive education (DE) program is for students who desire jobs in some aspect of marketing, primarily in service and

STUDENTS IN the cooperative work training (CWT) program are trained for semi-skilled jobs, and those in the office occupations (OO) program are trained for clerical and secretarial types of jobs in offices

"The benefits in this program are that the student gets practical experience in a job he may want to pursue after graduation. And the employer has a potential employee he has trained himself. The DO student who goes on to a technical college gets some background knowledge in a job that should help him in college," said Bill Maki, coordinator of the DO

Maki's 24 students are working as beauticians, mechanics, machinists, dental assistants and a variety of additional skilled jobs this year.

ONE DO STUDENT, junior Mike Caouette of Wheeling, is a pre-apprentice at the Baasch Dental Laboratories in Deerfield. He spends each weekday afternoon making false teeth at the lab. and plans to continue in the program

"I enjoy it. I don't know if it will be a career, or not, but there's no comparison with this and the regular school program. This is so much better," he said

Wheeling High's 29 DE students are "getting a headstart in a career. They're usually better prepared to know what they want to do after they graduate than average students," according to DE coordinator Kathleen Nagle.

Miss Nagle's students are employed as sales clerks, stockboys, grocery store checkers and other marketing-related

"The goal of DE is to train them for supervisory positions. I've had fantastic cooperation from local businesses, even with the tight job market," said Miss

ONE OF THE DE students, senior Dan Hoste et Wheeling has become assistant manger of the Benson-Rixon clothing store in the Randburst Shopping Center. Mount Prospect He is the youngest person ever to hold the position.

Junior Jill Siler is participating in the DE program for the first time this year She's a salesgirl at Rothchild's in

WIIIP Lashes Electoral Board

Wheeling Independent Party (WHIP) candidates said that a lack of time and money prevented them from going to court to challenge an electoral board ruling that climinated them from the ballot in the April 20 election.

Answering a statement Issued by the electoral board last week, the WHIP candidates yesterday disputed the electoral board's contention that the party knew a court would uphold the electoral board

"Two factors affected our decision lack of time and lack of money. If we had appealed we have no doubt that the circuit court would have overruled the decision to remove all candidates," WHIP candidate Otis Hedlund said.

"At the hearing on Feb. 26, the board denied our attorney's request to file a post hearing brief. They said they wanted to be able to make a prompt decision We were notified of that decision two weeks later on March 12, hardly a prompt decision.

"We then realized the court decision on the appeal might come after the electon," the WHIP statement explained.

"Due to our limited funds the cost of an appeal was prohibitive. Remember, our campaign funds consist of small contributions from individuals," Hedlund

"The fact remains that there were enough unchallenged signatures on the petitions to make them valid The electoral board statement that when one candidate is disqualified the law requires all other members of his party to be disqualified was disputed by our attorney and never answered to our satisfaction, the WHIP statement charged

"We filed four candidates in good faith according to information we had received assuring us the candidates did meet residential requirements. According to our legal counsel the responsibility for our incomplete slate lies with the electoral board," the statement said.

Palatine Loses Code Battle With Sanitary District

Palatine lost its battle with the Metropolitan Sanitary District, MSD, Monday when the village hoard voted to approve two amendments to the building code required by MSD.

Until this week, local officials had refused to amend the code because they said the village already has adequate sewer regulations.

However, all sewer permits in Palatine have been withheld by the MSD pending village approval of the amendments.

This week's action by the village board brings local overhead sewer and footing drain regulations in compliance with the Village Pres John L. Moodie said he wrote two letters to MSD asking for a clarification of the district's mandate. He has said sewage ordinances of Palatine for the past nine years "are far superior to those of the MSD."

Local officials objected to the new MSD requirements basically because they said they would require elaborate sewer installations in buildings where they might not be needed

VILLAGE TRUSTEES said they befieved the new regulations would impose additional costs on homeowners which isn't necessary.

But between 6 and 8 construction projects in Palatine were being delayed until the new regulations were approved, according to Village Mgr. Berton Braun.

Specifically the new requirements handed down by MSD early this year requests each municipality that ties into the sanitary district to amend local codes to require installation of overhead plumbing in all new buildings with rooms below ground level and installation of sump pumps for discharge of footing

'We don't object to the basic principle of the ordinance. It's good for a town which doesn't have updated sewer regulations. But we've had these kind of requirements in effect for nine years," Braun explained.

"All the new amendments do is require additional cost," he added.

Mondie said in addition to sending letters to MSD he also called the board president, but he was not available.

Most municipalities within the sanitary district have approved the new sewer regulations. Palatine is one of the last towns to comply.

44 Tuitions To Be Shared

High School Dist. 214 and the Rolling Meadows city council will be sharing the tuition cost for 44 seniors at William Fremd High School next year rather than the 27 originally thought to be affected by a change in the high school district boundary line in Rolling Mead-

The miscount was discovered several weeks ago when Rolling Meadows High School Principal Robert Hoese began contacting parents about which high school district they wanted their upcoming seniors to attend.

"WHETHER IT IS 27 or 44. I understand the Rolling Meadows city council will still contribute $500 per student toward the tuition." Richard Bachhuber. Dist. 214 board president, said.

According to Bachhuber, the Dist. 214 board will probably agree to pay tuition to Dist. 211 for 44 students: "We believe it is the right thing to do and since we are getting state aid for those students, there will be no additional cost to us," he

Dist. 211's fintion is $1,100 per student for out-of-district students. Next year there will be no senior class at Rolling Meadows High School. Unless tuition is paid for the students, they canot remain at William Fremd High School for their final year

Earlier this year, the Dist. 214 board and the Rolling Meadows city council agreed to share the tuition cost for 27 upcoming seniors to remain at Fremd. Dist. 214 will contribute the state aid it will be receiving for the students, the city council will make up the difference. Transportation to Fremd High School will be provided by Dist. 214.

THE ORIGINAL NUMBER of 27 seniors was determined from a transportation study of students riding Dist. 211 buses to school. The recount also affects the total number of Fremd freshmen and sophomores who will transfer to Rolling Meadows High School next fall. Dist. 211 Supt. Richard Kolze estimates 103 Rolling Meadows students will leave Fremd rather than the original estimate Transfer of students from Fremd to Rolling Meadows High School is the result of a boundary line change between Dists. 211 and 214. In January, the Cook County Board of School Trustees granted a residents' request to have the boundary moved west to Route 53 from Owl Lane so the Rolling Meadows students now attending Dist. 211's Fremd High School could attend Dist. 214's Rolling Meadows High School.

Students To Enact 3 Plays

Paddock Jr High School Drama Club will enact three short plays based on stories by American author O. Henry.

Entitled "An Evening With O. Henry," the plays will be presented at 8 p.m. at Paddock Jr. High School Drama Club atine. Admission is 50 cents for high school-aged people and older. Those junior high school-aged and younger will be charged 35 cents.

Director of the plays, Mike Baker, said each story to be presented will be entertaining, but they also have something to say about life.

The first of the three O. Henry stories is "The Brief Debut of Tildy," which deals with a young woman, Tildy, played by Laura Clotfelter, who moves into the real world.

PRESENTED SECOND will be "The Cop and the Anthem." This story deals with the tramp, Soapy, portrayed by Jeff Marquardt. He tries to get thrown in jail death, but is unsuccessful.

All tales have the twist endings that were O. Henry's trademark.

Baker, who is also a speech and drama teacher at Paddock, said the students performing in this trio of short plays also helped with making the props used in the presentation. Besides making the scenery, they designed their own costumes, he pointed out.

Beside having fun performing the plays, the students are also learning acting. For the past week, the performers have been rehearsing at the school in front of video-tape equipment.

After they run through a play, the tape is played back and the students can see what they did wrong and critique themselves, Baker said

With 769 votes cast yesterday, Dellamaria captured a six-year term on the Palatine Park Board with 271. His nearest opponent, Mrs. Carol Wills, unofficially piled up 172 votes, some 99 votes less than Deliamaria.

Trailing the field was Loren J. Miller, who received 130 votes, and Edward Dittrich, who received 64 votes.

WRITE-IN candidate John M. Courtright received one vote. Dellamaria said he was happy to learn that he won the election.

In what was described as a "good voter turnout" for a Salt Creek Rurai Park District election, two new candidates were put into office.

With a total of 291 votes cast yesterday. Denis Schnell was elected to a six year term to the Salt Creek Board while Henry C. Deihl Jr. swept into office to fill the two-year unexpired term. Neither incumben, Gerald Ahlenius or Norbert Kwasniac, finished higher than third in the voting.

In voting for the six-year term, Schnell unofficially piled up a vote of 143. Running second was Ronald Salski, who ran up a vote total of 112.

A DISTANT THIRD was Ahlenius, who withdrew from the race earlier this week, charging that park attorney Richard Mugalian had tampered with the ballot. He claimed he was told by Mugalian that he was the first candidate to file a candidacy petition, but that his name was placed second on the ballot.

For the two-year unexpired term, Deihl received 96 votes, outpolling his nearest opponent, Stanton Jones, by about 30 votes. Jones received 67 votes. In third place was incumbent Kwas-

Meadors: 15 Years For School Dist. 15

Incumbent Howard Meadows has 15 years of experience as a member of the Dist 45 school board behind his belt in his bid for re-election this year, more experience than any other candidate can

"I feel a person should offer some service to his community and Tve always received a great deal of satisifaction as a board member in the past," he said, explaining these were his reasons for seeking another term to the board

Meadors said he views financing of the school district as top priority for consideration in the coming year. "We'll have to look for other ways to get additional funds be ind suggesting that an increased share of the state income tax be clocated to education to supplement firances of local school districts

"I think it's only proper that a good share of the money be channeled back to local taxpayers through education," he "The past few referenda held by said area districts have made it evident that local taxpayers are reluctant to increase their tax levies

HE SUGGESTED that board members work to persuade state legislators to equalize the state aid formula between dual and unit districts "It would be arranged so that school systems in a given area receive like amounts for each of the students to be educated '

Switching to a year-round school program is "something we'll have to senously consider in the future." Meadors said "Our summer school program is a drift towards better utilization of building facilities. However, parent acceptance of year-round school would be a problem.

Meadors views the question of state aid to non-public schools in terms of obligation to educate the children. "If parochial schools don't have enough funds, then we have to assume the burden of educating them." He said cooperative programs such as shared-time are tied up with many legalities that must be straightened out before they could be put into operation.

Second to financing in importance for the coming year is consideration of growth of the district. Meadors said. Although Dist. 15 ha shad "a year or two of reprieve in its building program and we now can offer more classrooms," times will change and the district "must be alert in finding new school sites."

IN THE PAST several years, Dist. 15 has received enough new students to warrant the opening of a new school each year, Meadors said. "It's inevitable that we'll need another bond referendum soon and we'll have to go to the residents for funds," he said, but plans for a referendum currently are not under consideration.

Meadors said Dist. 15 "has been remiss in not offering more vocational education programs and training." Although the district will be expanding its vocational program this fall, "we don't have enough yet, primarily because of funds."

As a member of the board's negotiating team for teacher's contracts, Meadors says contract negotiations should be handled privately "If sessions were open to the public, too much pressure would be placed on the negotiators and would disrupt the proceedings."

Because teaching "renders too important a service." Meadors said he is not in favor of the right to strike for teachers. "It's something that is legally questionable now, and usually only makes the children suffer."

Meadors says it's important that board members recognize where their responsibilities lie and not exceed their limits. "Board members should monitor the action of the school staff through establishing policy. It's a responsibility of the board to make sure policy is carried out

Keeping state legislators informed of the needs of the local school district is also part of a board member's job. Meadors said. "If it takes a trip to Springfield, then the board members should do it It's our duty to get more involved with Consistently updating curriculum is also something Ehringer feels should be given high priority. "The social situation changes so rapidly we have to keep moving to stay attuned so that the students can adjust to the society when they leave the schools," he said.

ALTHOUGH EHRINGER said a formula must be set up in which state income tax money will take the place of personal property tax revenues, the real burden for finances has to continue on the local residents." He said schools should be supplemented by continued

Although he felt a year-round school program would allow for better use of school facilities and "at first glance it looks good, there are problems with it, particularly economic problems." Keepmg schools open over 12 months for regular curriculum programming would not provide the student who needs or wants supplemental instruction, through summer school, to have it, he said

"The high cost factor for operating schools is not school construction and building but payment of teachers salaries," he said, which would increase if teachers were employed year-round

Unification of high school and elementary school districts would not be appropriate for schools in this area, accord-

"IN SMALL SCHOOL districts, unit systems work out well. But in districts like 15 that are so large by themselves. I wonder if one school board for high schools too could ever maintain as close contact with the problems as we do now," he said More cooperation between the home, school and local government is needed to combat drug abuse, Ehringer said, "By hitting students through these three different avenues, we'll get a much stronger result Ehringer does not foresee the need for another referendum for the next two years "We should have enough classrooms through 1973 based on the projected economy of the country and apartment growth in the area," he said. As school districts continue to grow, however, Ehringer said school officials "have to come up with a better system. for input to the state legislature." Al though existing channels, such as the Illinois Association of School Boards, provide "a fair voice in Springfield," he suggested an additional liaison with the state be established, possibly a lawyer or lobbyist representing the entire Northwest suburban area through the North-

Forest Preserve Unit Takes Recreation Step

by DAVE CRIPPEN

The Cook County Forest Preserve District has taken a major step towards development of $34.5 million recreation and flood control project in the Ned Brown forest preserve near Elk Grove Village.

The county board of forest preserve commissioners gave unanimous approval to a resolution authorizing the district to go ahead with plans for development of the largest segment of a six phase watershed program, which includes construction of 589-acre lake in the Ned Brown

The board's vote also meant the disfrict has joined more than a half-dozen other public agencies in a struggle to control annual flooding of the Salt Creek.

The entire watershed project is designed to alleviate flooding conditions in a 52square mile area of the Northwest sub-

Forest preserve officials unveiled a preliminary plan showing the proposed take twisting and turning throughout most of Ned Brown preserve south of Higgins Road. A large dam to form the reservoir would be constructed across Salt Creek at a site about one-quarter mile northeast of intersection of Arlington Heights and Cosman Roads.

Numerous recreational projects, including 16 miles of trails, 22 picnic shelters, boat rental facilities and two boat launching ramps, are slated for development as part of the program.

Also planned is a winter sports hill large enough for skiing, sledding and tobogganing.

Construction of the lake will require excavation of 294 million cubic yards of dirt, which will be stockpiled for later use in constructing the winter sports

BOARD PRES. George W. Dunne noted the district has been working on plans since September 1964 when the board of commissioners first authorized a feasibility study.

James Tyndall, the district's assistant general superintendent, said officials are hoping construction can get under way by September of next year. The project is expected to take six years to complete.

$23 million of the projected cost can be attributed to property already owned by the district. Federal and state funds are currently being sought to finance most of the remaining $11 million.

Only about $359,000 in county funds will have to be spent on the project, according to Tyndall.

Dunne said the project was the largest and most diversified development of its type the district has ever undertaken and praised it as an effective flood control program.

'The forest preserve district has pursued this project for eight years because of their firm belief in the impoundment approach, rather than destructive chan-

Tyndall also explained that roughly nel improvement proposals that have been made," the board president commented.

HE ADDED, "The whole concept of this project is centered around water retention; and equally important will be the 3.035 acres of water-oriented recreational lands that will evolve from the

Although the lake normally will cover 589 acres, the basin will be constructed with a capacity of 1,100 acres to handle increased flow of Salt Creek during flood stages, officials said.

More than 160 acres of the lake will be 10 feet or more deep, according to the

In addition to the forest preserve district, the Salt Creek watershed program is sponsored by Palatine, Rolling Meadows, Schaumburg, Elk Grove, Harper Junior College, the Illinois Division of Waterways, the U. S. Soil Conservation Service.

The overall flood-control effort calls for construction of a series of retention reservoirs on the upper Salt Creek, most of which will be developed through agreements between area communities and the sanitary district.

Complaints Reported Since 1964

Suit Filed Against Chicago Magnet

A suit to halt air pollution filed last that many did not bother to voice their week against Chicago Magnet Wire Corp. was a long time coming

It was last fall that Jack Pahl, village president of Elk Grove Village, in an off the record comment said the village had sought help from the Illinois Attorney General's office in dealing with the firm

But complaints against the firm, 901 Chase Ave, had cropped up infrequently since the firm moved from Chicago to the suburb in 1964.

Disgruntled residents would periodically complain about the odor coming from the plant, often bringing their complaints to the village board meetings or calling the Herald

Residents became so used to the odor opinion, said Charles Willis, village man-

THE FREQUENCY of the complaints is not related to the frequency of the odor," he said, adding it had only been in the last six months the village deliberately began to keep a record of complaints against the company.

The results of those complaints led to Atty. General William J. Scott's office filling a suit under his authority to deal with a public nuisance and two Illinois Pollution Laws, the Environmental Protection Act which took effect July 1, 1970. and the Air Pollution Control Act which was in effect until July 1, 1970.

The suit, filed in Cook County Circuit

Court, asked the court to permanently enjoin the company from polluting the air. It seeks penalties of $10,000 for each violation of the Environmental Protection Act plus up to $1,000 a day for each day the violation is continued, and $5,000 for each violation of the Air Pollution Control Act plus $200 for each day the violation continued.

SCOTT CHARGED the firm emits gaseous matter into the air, consisting in part of phenolic compounds including cresylic acid, giving "strong and offensive odors causing respiratory irritation and other damage to personal health and enjoyment as well as damage to proper-

The firm manufactures a baked coating magnetic wire and other fixtures, and magnetic wire primarily for use in electrical products, Scott's office report-

A spokesman for the firm said Friday that Anthony D. Jordan, executive vice president, would have no comment.

Last September, however, when this reporter visited the plant, Jordan said it was in the midst of a "total environmental program" that would cost from $3 to $5 million.

Jordan said the firm was in "no violation of any law."

The firm's pollution consultant said the federal and state governments had not yet provided the standards for regulating odor poliution

"You can't hang a thing on the stack to solve the total environment problem," said Jordan. "You've got to look at its source and go right to the heart of the

YMCA Climbs Toward Goal

Since initiating its building fund drive Friday, Country-side YMCA has collected about $100,000 toward its $1.7 million goal to construct a building facility

This amount, collected in "investment pledges," was posted on the YMCA's tote board at Howard Johnson's, along with the number of people who contributed additional funds for the inclusion of adult fitness centers in the Y's building plans. Nine women and 21 men are now enrolled in the fitness centers, due to their extra pledges.

On Friday, about 230 people turned out to kick off the Y's fund drive. Speaking at the affair was Nicholas Lattof, owner of Lattof Motor Sales of Arlington Heights and the 1971 Time-Lafe Automobile Dealer of the Year

Lattof praised the people helping Countryside get the drive going and called for contributions from all over the Y's service area to get the facility built

When the YMCA's building facility is constructed, it will be located near Baldwin and Colfax Roads

YMCA LEADERS expect the groundbreaking ceremonies for the faculity to take place this fall, if the drive goes as planned. They expect the facility to open for business by November of 1972.

If the entire $1.7 million goal is reached, the facility will contain all the necessities, including office space and parking, plus nine recreational priorities, including two pools a snack area and a

Other recreational areas will be built on to the facility as time goes by, YMCA leaders have said

Currently, the Y's fund drive is in its first phase, where friends of the YMCA will be asked to invest in the new facility On April 23, phase two will begin, with drive workers visiting everyone else in Countryside's service area.

YMCA director Herman Hertog, along with other YMCA leaders, have said they are almost certain the $1.7 million goal can be reached by the drive's conclusion

School Officials Ask Legal Voice In Zoning Issues

School Dist. 23 officials are calling for a legal voice in zoning claiming school districts are now 'required to face tax increases without any representation

Mel Lace school board president and Supt. Edward Grodsky have designed a bill that will give school districts a legal voice in zonings which affect school en rollinent Grodsky said he has asked Wendell Jones of the county superin tendent of education office to study the proposed bill and 'put it in legal form ' He added that it has be be submitted to the state legislature before April 23

It all goes back to the Boston Tea-Party' said I see at a board meeting Monday School districts shouldn't be required to just furnish facilities without some degree of control (over the density of school children in a proposed development). It's un'American

'Our feelings are that many times we are not listened to during zoning meetings which commits overcrowded housing developments and forces school districts to continue to build or add to buildings still standing said Grodsky

A rough draft of the proposed bill states school districts are designed without regard to village boundaries Likewise village boundaries are determined totally apart from school district boundaries. Since school districts are required to furnish educational facilities for all students within the district it is obvious that part of zoning control affecting student enrollment, should be within the jurisdiction of the affected school district

The real problem with the present situation is that we have no real bargaining power ' said Lori Sarner, school board member "It is like going to the grocery store and having to buy groceries with no money ' Grodsky added that the school district should be able to bargain and secure a commitment for provisions for new schools '

Lace, who is also a member of the Wheeling Plan Commission, pointed out that some developers are responsive to the district's problem. 'But some won't

Late Tax Bill Interest

Payment By County Sought

The county should pay any costs incurred by public school districts as a result of late tax bills " according to School Dist 23 officials

The school board has proposed a legislative bill that will require the county to pay the interest on tax anticipation war rants which the districts must issue to offset late tax bills. The proposed bill was first discussed publicly by the board at a meeting Monday

According to James Hendren district business manager "The county does not expect to distribute tax monies until Au gust because of a two-month delay in mailing county tax bills this year

At an April 13 meeting of the North west Education Cooperative (NEC) representatives of the school board will recommend that the proposed bill be submitted to the state legislature

SCHOOL BOARD Member Don McKay suggested that the NEC school board might go beyond legislation and picket the county "The county is not doing its job It might be good for them to get some adverse publicity

Melvin Lace, school board president pointed out that "legislation can do noth ing to solve the present situation because the tax bills are already late

As a result of the delay the district will have to hike the amount of its tax anticipation warrants by $50 000 this year, according to Hendren It will cost the district approximately $1500 to wait two months to retire the $300 000 in warrants assued last year

School Board Member Lort Sarner said sult we won't know the assessed valu the added costs that resulted from the delay 'have wiped out our summer school program

IN DISCUSSING why the county is late in billing taxpayers. Hendren said the county office told him that they are 'still hearing cases concerning last year's taxes

Grodsky explained that the assessment of the property of the taxpayers who are contesting their bills cannot be deter mined until the hearings end 'As a re-

Districts Elect 3

Voters elected three park commissioners in elections yesterday in two local park districts

Winning six year terms were Robert Jackson of the Mount Prospect Park Dis trict and Kenneth Rudnick and John Jo hanson of the River Trails Park District

Jackson who lives at 513 Hi Lusi Ave in Mount Prospect is currently the presi dent of the park district. His victory means he will begin serving his second six year term

Jackson received 134 of the 143 votes cast in yesterday's balloting A former park commissioner, Ed Boddy of Mount Prospect received two write-in votes as did William Seefeldt of Des Plaines Wil ham Selen a current park commissioner whose term is not up, also recieved a write in vote

Jackson said last night "I was sur prised that so few people were interested enough to go out and vote After all there are about 50,000 people in the park

THE PARK DISTRICT includes most of Mount Prospect the eighth ward of Des Plaines and part of Elk Grove Vil lage and Arlington Heights

In the River Trails district eysterday's victories by Rudnick and Johanson means they will serve their first complete terms on the board Both Rudnick, of 703 Dogwood Ln, and Johanson of 908 Ironwood P, first joined the park board when they were appointed to fill va-

The total ballots cast in the River Trails election was 73 Rudnick received 72 votes Johanson 71 There were no write-in votes

Marvin Weiss, director of recreation for the district said last night 'For an uncontested election I really think the turnout was not too bad. In our last commissioner election - there was opposition that time - there were 210 votes

The River Trails district serves parts of Mount Prospect and Prospect Heights

These changes involve sick states salary for a holiday shall be paid only if the day before and the day after the holiday is worked, unless accompanied by a doctor's certificate explaining the nature of the illness. The superintendent shall notify the board concerning any Caractions

The second policy change states "no sick days shall be permitted the first and last week of school without a doctor's certificate explaining the nature of the illness." Again the superintendent must notify the board of any variations

The board discussed the policy changes at a meeting last month. At that time a representative of the Prospect Heights Education Association asked that the board consider excusing a teacher if he returns late after a holiday because of weather conditions. The board has not provided for this in the policy manual

ACCORDING TO Grodsky, the promain would cost the district nothing. He said Birkett's salary would be "dependent on the fees taken in " Business Mgr James Hendren added "as long as a custodian is available anyway, the program won't create a problem for the district. It is our policy to give community non-profit organizations access to our buildings, at no charge, during the custodians' regular working hours "

Grodsky urged that the board approve the program because of the band's performance in recent competition. The concert band and chorus received first division ratings in state regional competition. Grodsky said the district band program has been fully developed only in the past two years

Gerald McGovern, principal of the Douglas MacArthur Juntor High School, credited Rosemary Simons with upgrading the district music program during her two years in the district

Birkett adopted his program from a practice used by the district "during growing pains in the early 1960s." At that time the district operated a summer band program on a fee basis.

BIRKETT PROPOSED that the school facilities be used from 9-30 to 11-30 a.m. from June to July 13 "The parents would be offered a daily instrumental program which would include one weekly group lesson and 12 to 16 full band classes which would depend on enrollment and schedule problems.

According to Grodsky, Birkett has already had "indications that some parents and students are interested in the program " At the board's April 19 meeting. Grodsky said he will know how many students Birkett feels must join the program to make it operable.

Jo Ellen Clawes Eyes 'Other Side'

by BETSY BROOKER

Joe Ellen Clawes says she has been sitting in the audience at Dist. 23 School Board meetings for 10 years. Now, she wants to sit on the other side.

"I want to help and I really care," said Mrs. Clawes. She is running for election to the school board as an independent candidate.

If elected, she said she would like to help ease the district's financial situation which she described as "critical" "During the years that I have attended board meetings I have seen things go from bad to worse. The school district can't continue to ask for money endlessly, but the public can't put thumbs down (on referendums) either.

A balanced budget is not realistic, ac-state aid is set up The district will continue to have a deficit until the state legislature steps in and changes things."

THE DISTRICT should not hold another referendum right away, said Mrs. Clawes, because of the tight economic situation However she advocates a referendum no later than October.

After the defeat of a referendum last October, she said cutbacks were inevitable "The defeat reflects the fact that people are afraid of taxes. I think people mistrust the school board and the administration. But I resent the fact that they don't have the courage to confront them and ask questions "

Mrs Clawes agrees with the cuts made by the board recently, except for the remedial reading teaching position. Excluding that cut, she said, "I don't think the cuts will create a handicap for the children. They will be hurt by the loss of some of the programs, but there are enough people in the community who will step in and help the kids."

If the district's financial situation gets "really bad," Mrs Clawes said, "I can't blame the teachers for striking. They cording to Mrs Clawes "with the way have that right. But I would hate to see a strike.

"I don't know what the teachers' salary demands will be, but I hope they aren't too outlandish," said Mrs. Clawes. She added she has "mixed feelings" about the district's merit pay system for teachers. "It encourages the people who really care, but it has financial drawbacks The efficiency of the system denends on the administration."

IN THE AREA of curriculum, Mrs. Clawes proposed that it be more standardized. "All of the elementary schools feed into the same junior high school so the curriculum should be the same district-wide.

She added that she favors the team teaching method used at the John Muir School. And she called for an evaluation of the ungraded primary system at the Betsy Ross School and of the effect of 'Sesame Street" on incoming students.

As one soultion to the district's problems Mrs. Clawes advocated merger with another district because, "We are too small. There are too many districts in the state " When asked what the district could offer another, she said, "our

Another solution she proposed is securing additional police protection. She indicated the current county protection is not adequate saying, "there is hardly a Monday that goes by when you don't hear about vandalism at the schools I think the community should act as a watchdog because it is our problem."

Mrs Clawes said more police protection would eventually come with incorporation "Insofar as the schools are concerned incorporation can do nothing but help. We can't stay as we are."

Union Steward Eyes Board Negotiations

by BETSY BROOKER

Bruce Wallace is a union steward at Illinois Bell Telephone Co He believes this experience has made him a valuable member of the school board's negotiating

In his three years on the board, he has served on almost all of the board committees. In addition to assisting in teachers' negotiations he has updated the policy manual.

Wallace is running for relection to continue this work. He feels "A board member owes it to the district to run for another term. It takes a board member two years to get his feet on the ground. But I think he should leave after two terms because he gets to the point where he can't see the forest through the

Wallace termed the relationship between the teachers and school board "good" during negotiations "Last year we rewrote the professional negotiations agreement in seven months

WALLACE PRAISED the district's merit salary system, because "it recognizes and rewards professionalism? However he said the system has "some bugs. As the system works now, we will go broke

"The system gives the teachers both a cost of fiving increase and a merit increase The second year's increase is based on a base salary plus the first year's cost of living increase. The second year's increase should be based only on a base salary

The teachers' salary demands for next year must be "very reasonable" to meet the school district's budget, said Wallace "I would hate to see a walkout, I have told the teachers I will request their certificates be pulled if it happens "

The district's financial situation is critical, according to Wallace. "We have a changed my mind."

Bruce Wallace

deficit of over $300,000 " He said the situation began five to seven years ago as a result of "the state not giving the district enough aid and the residents not passing referendum's '

"The board kept borrowing and borrowing, hoping a referendum would pass and that more aid would come in." added Wllace

Wallace is not optimistic that the state can offer a way out now "We need both a referendum requesting more revenue, and cuts in expenses

HE SAID THE board cannot rely on cuts alone to erase the deficit because it would twipe out the education program. Most of the cuts already made haven't cut into the education program. But from here on out they will I think there will probably have to be more cuts.

He added 'I don't think we will ever cut back to the basic curriculum pro-

"The cits should have been made three years ago" added Wallace He said he voted against making cuts in the summer of 1969 because "there was a strong feeling a referendum would pass When we voted again on the cuts, I Northwest Education Cooperative." Concerning the vandalism problem, he said, "We have to get better police protection. "We can get it either through a municipal department or our own volunteer department " Wallace considers the current education program "very good" and gives most of the credit to Supt Edward Grodsky "That is his specialty, and that is one reason we hired him. I rely quite heavily on him and the principals in this

Busse Avenue had been one-way eastbound only between Northwest Highway and Main Street before the change. The Mount Prospect Village Board voted in January to reverse the direction of traffic following complaints from residents and merchants with businesses in the immediate area

THE CHANGE IS also expected to alleviale traffic congestion on Main Street between Northwest Highway and Central Road because motorists will gain an additional westbound route between Northwest Highway and Central Road

Traffic westbound on Busse Avenue may turn north on Wille. Pine and Northwest Highway. The village traffic plan calls for the widening of Main Street at Busse Avenue to allow for the installation of left-turn bays of the 1971-72 education budget - a budg- count the possibility that the 1971-72 staff et now about $150,000 less than the cursent education budget, according to selmol officials.

According to the traffic plan, the installation of left-turn bays will eliminate traffle congestion caused by motorists who block the roadway while waiting to turn left.

However, business manager, J. C. Busenhart, stressed the draft is only tenta-#No and does not include any of the proposals of the Mount Prospect Education Association (MPEA) that are now being negotiated with the school board. The 1970-71 education budget totals approximately $3 million.

Exact arounts in the education fund, which makes up about three quarters of the district's total bodget, will not be retensed until tonight's open session at 8 a m in the home economics room at Lincoln Jamor High School, 700 W. Lincoln

BUSENHART SAID teachers salaries make up about 75 per cent of the education budget. The amount budgeted for salaries is based on last year's schedule and the required pay hikes

The figure does not include an increase in salaries totaling $269,689 that has been proposed by the MPEA. However that

Besides teachers and administrator salaries, money in the education budget also goes for instructional materials and audio-visual equipment.

Money for the education fund comes primarily from real estate and personal property taxes and state aid. Revenue in Dist. 57 is expected to be less for the next year than it is now, Busenhart said. Enrollment in the district is decreasing, therefore causing a decrease in state aid. Also personal property tax from individuals have been abolished and issuance of a corporate property tax is still undecided, causing more drops in revenue.

Two Park Districts Elect 3

Voters elected three park commissioners in elections yesterday in two local park districts.

Winning six-year terms were Robert Jackson of the Mount Prospect Park District and Kenneth Rudnick and John Johanson of the River Trails Park District.

Jackson, who lives at 513 Hi-Lusi Ave. in Mount Prospect, is currently the president of the park district. His victory means he will begin serving his second six-year term.

Jackson received 134 of the 143 votes cast in yesterday's balloting. A former park commissioner, Ed Boddy of Mount Prospect, received two write-in votes as did William Seefeldt of Des Plaines. William Selep, a current park commissioner whose term is not up, also recieved a write-in vote.

Jackson said last night, "I was surprised that so few people were interested enough to go out and vote. After all. there are about 50,000 people in the park

THE PARK DISTRICT includes most of Mount Prospect, the eighth ward of Des Plaines, and part of Elk Grove Village and Arlington Heights.

In the River Trails district, eysterday's victories by Rudnick and Johanson means they will serve their first complete terms on the board, Both Rudnick. of 703 Dogwood Ln., and Johanson, of 908 Ironwood P., first joined the park board when they were appointed to fill va-

The total ballots cast in the River Trails election was 73. Rudnick received 72 votes. Johanson 71. There were no write-in votes.

Marvin Weiss, director of recreation for the district, said last night, "For an uncontested election, I really think the turnout was not too bad. In our last commissioner election — there was opposition that time - there were 210 votes

The River Trails district serves parts of Mount Prospect and Prospect Heights.

Arlen Holmen To Resign

Arien Holmen of Mount Prospect will resign as youth director of St. Mark Lutheran Church this month

Holmen, 204 S. Wille St., will become executive director of Green Wing Bible Camp in Amboy, Ill. April 15. He has been youth director at the local church

Holmen helped co-ordinate the Hike for the Hungry in October, 1969, that raised $55,000 for the poor. He worked with the Hi-League, a high school group, and directed the high school choir at St.

He majored in music, worked in the insurance business for nine years, and then became a youth director because "I got turned on by kids."

Before coming to Mount Prospect. he worked with young people at several congregations in Minnesota. The Holmen family will stay here until school ends in June, and Holmen will continue to work part-time at the church.

and the establishment of goals by the school board are two objectives of Theodore Staddler, candidate for the Elk Grove Township Elementary School Dist. 59 board of education.

Staddler is one of four candidates seeking election to two three-year terms on the board. He has three sons and moved with his family to 1032 Brantwood Ave. in Elk Grove Village in 1968 after living in Milwaukee. He previously lived in Elk Grove Village for six years. He is a manager of education in engineering for IBM in Chicago.

He has not belonged to parent teacher organizations in the district, but has been active in Boys Baseball, Queen of the Rosary Catholic Church activities, and the Lions Club.

Staddler said the "job the district is doing now could be improved. There are some rigid restrictions on children and teachers now. He said, "I'm afraid teachers fall into a rut of teaching the same way they have been for the last 10 years. I would like more creative teaching and think continuous goal-setting would correct

He cited several areas such as this, which he would like to see improved in the district, but added, "On the whole it is one of the better school districts in the suburbs. I moved back here partly because of the school system."

The candidate also questioned what he called "the trend in education of separating children by their ability," saying

Under the motion, students bused to school for special education, and first graders in the present boundaries would have been able to stay for lunch without

"We are the only district in the area using teachers for lunchtime supervision," said Mrs. Kimball. She said that if the board hired lay persons at $3 an hour to supervise, the total cost would be "considerably less" than what the district now has to pay teachers.

"THE TEACHERS need the hour off," said Mrs. Kimball, "A leisurely lunch hour would relax them and help develop unity with the school. If mothers visited the lunchrooms during the winter as I did, they wouldn't be so happy about the current program.

When the recommendation was made to charge a fee, parents in the district complained because they felt the current lunch program was satisfactory. They felt that teacher supervision in the lunch-100m was adequate

The fee recommendation came after a study initiated by Mrs. Kimball, was made of the lunchroom situations at the six elementary schools. The committee took a survey of families in the district to determine support of such a fee. According to the committee's report, 1,515 parents responded. They supported abolishing the boundaries by a two to one margin. They supported the fee program by a margin of three to two.

Mrs. Kimball said the fee "would encourage parents to have their children come home for lunch "Foster's proposal also states that the board "urges strongly that parents have their children home for lunch.

Heights Village Board and Plan Commission assigned to study the master planwill meet 7 p.m. today in the Municipal Building 33 S. Arlington Heights Rd.

The Arhngton Heights Park Board will hold a special meeting at 7:30 p.m. today. to canvass vote results from Tuesday's election. The meeting will be held in the park district's administration offices in Olympic Prk. 660 N. Ridge Ave.

by ROGER CAPETTINI

Three new faces were added to the Arlinton Heights Village Board and an incumbent was returned to office by Arlington Heights voters yesterday.

The winners in the hotly contested race were Village Party Candidates Alice Harms, Ralph Clarbour and incumbent James T. Ryan, and Caucus Party candidate Ted Salinsky.

Mrs. Harms was the high vote getter of the day in her race against John Collins for the two-year vacancy on the board. The other three victors were elected to four-year terms. Charles O. Bennett, an incumbent trustee was the only Village Party candidate who was not elected. Other Caucus Party candidates who were defeated were Eugene Griffin and Kenneth Banct.

WITH UNOFFICIAL results in from all 50 village precincts, Mrs. Harms gathered 5,296 votes, with Salinsky slightly more than 100 votes behind at 5,192. Clarbour finished third in the voting with 5,017 votes, with Ryan edging Griffin by 273 votes at 4,889.

Estimates of the voter turnout yesterday indicated a substantial increase over the number of voters going to the polls in the last election in 1969

Unofficial figures placed the number of veters yesterday at a minimum of 9,561, approximately 33 per cent of the village's 29,600 registered voters. In 1969 about 25 per cent of the electors cast ballots.

Campaign workers for both parties had predicted victory during the last few days of the campaign, based on a substantial voter turnout.

Al Lindsey, Caucus Party campaign chairman, had said, "With a normal turnout we'll win in a close election. With a large turnout, we'll win in a landslide.'

SEVERAL VILLAGE PARTY candidates and campaign workers said last week, the larger the turnout, the better chance they had.

Mrs. Harms, a housewife and present member of the village plan commission, led the Village Party ticket through the entire day, and finished carrying 33 of the 50 precincts, and losing one precinct by only one vote in her head-to-head contest with Collins.

One of the major issues of the campaign centered around the proposal for low and moderate-income housing on the St. Viator property.

Caucus Party candiates overwhelmed their opponents in several precincts surrounding the property, including precincts 77 and 36, roughly the Arlington Estates area and that section of Dryden Street adjoining the property respective-

The precinct Mrs. Harms lost by only a single vote was Precinct 20, which includes the members of the Greater Eastwood Homeowners Association, one of the groups vocally opposed to the housing proposition.

ADDITIONALLY, Ryan placed third of the candidates for the three four-year terms in the same precinct, thought to be a Caucus Party stronghold.

The Village Party candidates ran heavily in the older sections of the village, and amassed impressive totals in the Scarsdale area and two other precincts adjoining the Scarsdale area.

Few 'Hurrays' Among The Winners

by ROGER CAPETTINI

For a bunch of winners they weren't very happy.

Instead of the unrestrained joy and enthusiasm which may have been expected at Village Party headquarters last night, three winners in the village board election and dozens of party workers shook hands with each other, warmly patted each other on the back and gave each other all the credit.

There were only a few "hurrays" as the final precincts reported totals that soon made it evident the upstart challengers to the establishment party could not close the gaps.

MIXED THROUGH the entire crowd in the cramped offices at 102 N. Evergreen Ave., was a heaviness of sorrow. One of their own had fallen. Chuck Bennett, who along with Jim Ryan, was "dumped" by the general caucus election in January, was rejected by the voters.

After the unofficial, but meaningful tallies were recorded, it became obvious that Bennett was out. And the conversation turned not to how or why the others won, but what a loss it would be to the village with Bennett off the board.

"He was the leader," "He was our leadoff man," "He drew their fire," was heard repeatedly through the rooms.

WITH ABOUT three-quarters of the vote in, Bennett retired to a chair in the corner. It was so close there was nothing to do but wait. And you may as well do that sitting down and puffing on a friend-

But he didn't take it as hard as many would expect, and when Caucus Party campaign chairman Al Lindsey phoned to offer his congratulations to the three winners. Bennett was the first on the phone to return the kudos.

The phones rang constantly as the workers recorded the votes on a board. Between 7 and 8 p.m., the votes seemed to clearly indicate a Village Party victory, but then it started to get closer and a tenseness hung in the rooms.

They knew then they were in a horse race and started commending the opposition for the campaign they had waged.

In the tradition of all familiar "smokefilled rooms" eyes began to water from the blue fog. Coats were removed and ties were loosened.

ALICE HARMS and Raigh Clarbour ran pretty well out in front through most of the night with opponent Ted Salinsky running a good third. The battle was for the fourth spot, between village candidate and board incumbent Ryan and Gene Griffin.

But then only Precinct 46 west remained and Ryan had an unofficial lead of 319 votes. He had it made.

Then it was over, and the room emptied quickly after the handshakes and

They were off in all directions. To village hall, to parties everywhere.

A few remained and the conversation turned again to Chuck Bennett, who was one of the last to leave.

Cheers went up as precincts came in heavy for the Caucus party, but anxiety returned as vote total, showed a close race between meumbent James T. Ryan and Eugene Griffin for the fourth seaf on the board

As one worker looked nervous, Lindsey proclaimed, "It's an overtime game - it helps to keep everyone stimulated."

BY 8:25 P.M., Landsey was confident enough to procla in Salinsky a winner for one seat and conceded the two-year post to Village Party candiate Alice Harms.

Jokes started up again "Let's call Mayor Daley," several supporters said-The two rooms and hallway of the Cancus headquarters was cramped with nore than 60 persons while others waited downstairs at the bar.

A young man who had lived in Northgate subdivision for less than six months watched with glee as his precinct turned in two to one for the Caucus. "See how I control my area. I knew they'd come through."

Lindsey watched the board. With two precincts out, both expected to go heavily for the Caucus, he said Griffin still had a chance to overtake Ryan.

Griffin, hardened by a loss in last year's Con-Con election, disagreed with Lindsey's optimism, "There's no way I'll wm." he said

Finally, with only one precinct left to report, Lindsey agreed with Griffin, "It would take a miracle in the last precinct to get Gene in now," he said.

Sparks Cites Experience In Reelection Bid

Allen Sparks is the only incumbent seeking reelection Saturday for the Elk Grove Township Elementary School Dist. 59 Board of Education.

He is coming "because of my experience in the problems and operation of

A former board president of Dist. 59, Sparks has served as a board member for three years and three months. He is running against three other candidates for the two three-year terms.

According to Sparks, although the "main purpose of the board is to make policy in reality its real function is to make sound decisions on the problems and questions which arise before it.

He thinks the board has made sound decisions and wants to continue to be a part of that board.

HE SAID HE has used "sound judgment" for the last 10 years at Universal Oil Products in Dos Plaines where he is employed as an assistant director of research. He lives with his wife and daughter at 966 Spruance, Des Plaines.

The incumbent who has missed very few meetings in his term on the board, says he "enjoys education." He has a Ph D from Case Western Reserve, Cleveland, and says, "From this standsaid the district "is doing an outstanding point I feel I have experience in a great deal of things " He is active in the Einstein School Parent Teacher Association and Dist 59 School Community Council.

Sparks said, "Dist. 59 has a sound education program. That's not to say there isn't room for improvement. I personally like the concept of the learning center and individualization. I only wish that finances were such that we could really individualize as the overriding philoso-

HE ADDED THAT he would like to see improved utilization of the centers. He job this year in handling money," despite the lack of adequate financing for desired programs. He cited a cut of 80 per cent in travel expenses as an example. "In general we have a much more efficient operation," he said. On finances, he commented, "Obviously if cuts are necessary the first areas are those that do not affect childern. If it came to the point where it definitely would mean a cut in the educational program then the board must go to the public and show the revenue and the program and ask for approval from voters." Sparks views on some of the local issues: The junior high school referendum DIST. 59 SCHOOLS

Arlington Heights: Juliette Low. Des Plaines: Brentwood, Devonshire, Albert Einstein and High Ridge Knolls.

Elk Grove Village: Adm. Richard E. Byrd, Clearmont, Daniel Cook, Grove, Mark Hopkins, Lively, Ridge, Rupley, Salt Creek and Grant Wood,

Mount Prospect: Dempster, Forest View, Robert Frost, Holmes and John

- "The board is taking a much more active part in this area than in the past. We interviewed four architects to determine if the cost was reasonable and if we were getting our money's worth." Sparks voted to hold the referendum.

Communication - "I think it has been improved through the letters sent to parents and I would like to see it continue. "The district should communicate — but there has to be someone at the other end

He added that he would like to see board members attend parent teacher organization meetings and said he would participate.

TENURE - "A good teacher doesn't really need tenure. I fail to see how a teacher can benefit from it.

Northwest Educational Cooperative -"I feel that NEC has a great deal of potential. It had trouble getting started but I think we can help in the sense of offering definite programs. The boards of education have to have more input.'

State aid to public schools - "With the direction that things are going the state is going to have to take a greater role."

State aid to non-public schools -"From the standpoint of a board member I feel that it is the public school system's duty to educate any and all students within district boundaries.

The teachers' strike Feb. 5 - "I think the board did the right thing. The board has to be concerned with the overall financing and there's a point at which the line has to be drawn. That doesn't mean I want a teachers' strike."

He cited several areas such as this, which he would like to see improved in the district, but added, "On the whole itas one of the better school districts in the shourbs. I moved back here partly because of the school system?

The candidate also questioned what he called "the trend in education of separating children by their ability," saying that be preferred keeping the children in the same classroom but having them work at their own pace.

Parks' Jackson Wins Reelection

Robert Jackson of Mount Prospect was re-elected to a second six-year term on the Mount Prospect Park District board in vesterday's election Jackson is currently the president of the park district board

Jackson received 134 of the 143 votes eats. A former park commissioner, Ed. Boddy of Mount Prospect, received two write in votes as did William Seefeldt of Des Plaines William Selep, a current park commissioner whose term is not up. also received a write-in vote.

The district includes most of Mount Prospect the Eighth Ward of Des-Plaines and parts of Elk Grove Village and Arlangton Heights

Tests of the Des Plaines municipal wa-

The tests were conducted at the city's Thacked Street water plant last month on water from the city's wells No. 1 and No. 3 which draw water from about 1800 feet underground, according to City Engineer Robert Bowen.

The city currently buys about two thirds of its water supply from the City of Chicago. That water is tested several times daily for mercury as well as other potential contaminants, according to Chi-

Water from the city's wells is monitored regularly only for bacteria content.

In February, an official of Midwest Engineering College in Lombard said a mercury level of 08 parts per billion and .28 parts per billion were found respectively in water from one Des Plaines well and in a distribution main during a

Couple Arrested On Robbery Charge

A couple accused of robbing a Des Plaines man at gunpoint last November was arrested early yesterday morning in Acting on an anonymous tip relayed by the FBI detectives from Des Plaines and Chicago surrounded a house at 3618 N. Hoyne Ave., closing in shortly after midnight and arresting the pair on armed robbery charges.

Edgar Keck, 41, of Vincennes Ind., and Ellen Adams, 22, of 4N200 Locust St West Chicago, were being held yesterday on the charges, according to police.

Keck's nephew, Daniel Barnes, of the three were riding near the intersection of 3618 N. Hoyne address, was charged by Chicago police with unlawful use of weapons after a pistol and a sawed-off shotgun allegedly were found in the house during the arrests.

Keck and Miss Adams are accused of taking $750 from James Schlenk, 2129 Ash St., Des Plaines, November 27 after visiting with Schlenk and his wife, who was a long-time friend of Miss Adams, according to police reports.

Schlenk reportedly went for a drive with Keck and Miss Adams and while the

"Are you kidding or something?" Schlenk said he told Keck.

"Give me the money, or I'll blow you through the door," was the man's reply, according to what Schlenk told police after the incident.

Schlenk said he gave the cash to Keck and was ordered to drive away after letting the couple out of his car near the Howard-Lee intersection.

Sparks Cites Experience On Board Band Wins Superior Ratings

Allen Sparks is the only incumbent seeking reelection Saturday for the Elk Grove Township Flementary School Dist 39 Board of Education

He is running because of my experi ence in the problems and operation of the school district

A former board president of Dist 59 Sparks has served as a board member for three years and three months. He is ourning against three other candidates for the two three year terms.

According to Sparks although the main purpose of the board is to make policy in reality its real function is to make sound decisions on the problems and questions which arise before it He thinks the board has made sound decisions and wants to continue to be a part of that board

HE SAID HE has used 'sound judg ment for the last 10 years at Universal Oil Products in Des Plaines where he is employed as an assistant director of research. He lives with his wife and daugh ter at 908 Spruance Des Plaines

The Doctor Says

by Lawrence E. Lamb, M.D.

Dear Dr Tamb - I hope I can save someone a lot of heartbreak by telling of my experience. Do not rely on your own examination of your breasts like I did 1 ended up with a malignant tumor and cobalt treatment plus removal of my breast. I could not detect it even though it filled the whole breast. To me a lump was a definite thing like a cyst but apparently the good tissue is replaced with discased tissue. Anyway see your doctor for examination regularly. Wish I bad - DUMB DORA Dear Reader - Thinking of others when you have your problem should win you the title of Darling Dora You have stated the problem very well. It is a good thing for women to check their own breasts because sometimes they do find a definite lump and can get early medical attention BUT as you have pointed out so well that just isn't enough A regular checkup with your doctor is a good preventive measure that every oman should follow

Dear Dr Tamb - My husband was found dead in our barnyard at 10 pm I was at work and the coroner said he died about 5 pm while doing the evening feeding. We had no idea that he had a heart condition. He was 57 Could it be possible that he had this and we didn't know it? Could we have helped him if we had been there? This has been bothering

Dear Reader — Unfortunately the first warning that many people have concerning their heart problems is a sudden attack About half of the people with a heart attack do not live long enough to he admitted to the hospital. Even complete medical checkups with a heart tracing may be normal. This is why prevention of heart disease is so important I ven a good artificial heart of it existed won't help the people who don't make it to the hospit il Prevention means that if there has been a weight gain since the middle 20s or other evidence of accumu lated fat it must be climinated by diet and proper exercise. It also means elimi nating eigarcites in any amount. A proper dict a good exercise program and eliminating cigarettes and coffee would probably save about half of the people who are now having the same problem your husband had

I doubt there is much you could have done even if you had been at his side. If you knew how to apply actificial heart massage through the chest and if some one had come along in time to help you there might have been a chance. There are a lot of its. Even a skilled person giving heart massage through a closed chest must produce effective circulation in about four minutes or the brain will be damaged There is really only one good answer - prevention

Age 57 is a common age for men to have heart attacks. There should be a lot of good years after that age. Young men do not escape either. The most common cause of sudden death in young men ir the United States today is heart disease

Runway Plan 'A Disaster': Candidate

Planned construction of an additional northwest-southeast runway at O'Hare Airport "will simply be a disaster" for the far west side of Des Plaines, an aldermanic candidate said yesterday.

Alan Abrams, 514 Westmere Rd., who is running for eighth ward alderman, said he opposes building the new runway. which would be parallel to an existing northwest-southeast landing strip.

The controversial runway has been in the planning stages for several years. Chicago officials have said they will make no major moves to expand O'Hare until after 1972.

Abrams said the expansion plans call for lengthening existing runway 14L by 1400 feet and adding another runway parallel to 14L. The flight paths of aircraft using the new runway "will be directly over the eighth ward," Abrams said.

"This runway will simply be a disaster

"It will, of course, dramatically increase the serious health hazards now existing due to the hydrocarbon jet engine exhaust and constant aircraft noise," he said.

"This new runway must never be built and particularly not when it threatens the health and welfare of a heavily populated community such as the eighth ward. It should be constructed where it truly belongs, namely at the proposed third airport," said Abrams.

There is also land available at the southwest portion of O'Hare, although Chicago authorities apparently rejected its use because of the cost of relocating a railroad yard there.

ILIS APPAILING to read consecutive letters in the Herald in regard to cruel and abusive treatment of animals 1 d like to add another story to the list

Two years ago our lovely male cat did not come home untill late at night. When he did come home, we were shocked by his appearance and did not think he would live the right front paw was severed through the bone and only hanging by a thread. He had also suffered two very deep lacerations to the bone on his right hand pay. The cat was in shock and screamed with pain all the night Orly after three weeks at the extremely competent Mount Prospect Animal Hospital was he able to walk again. He has had some problems with his leg, and sesere arthritis is not the least of his worries. The cause of this accident was a steel spring trup, which is normally used for catching muskrats and raccoons Smile stories have also been relayed to much other cat owners in Rolling Mead nis And indeed the police could do nothing about it. All that saved our pet was his courage to drag himself home on

I do not agree with some readers in that the people who are cruel to animals should receive the same treatment I think that is an unfeeling and childish reaction I wish only that these people could be helped into having respect for other human beings, and their (very human, too) pets

Articles Helpful

I want to thank Ed Murnane for the work he has put into his column, "Just Politics," and to let him know how much I have appreciated it and learned from it. As a teacher I have been able to make considerable use of his articles dealing with all levels of our government. His reporting of the voting records of our legislators in Springfield and Washington will be extremely helpful and will fill a very real information gap This is something our metropolitan dailies should have long been doing

Since I am involved in local politics myself, I have had an opportunity to know that his local reporting is fair and accurate, and that I can confidently assign his reports to my classes. I shall continue to look forward to his articles.

Teacher Pay Freeze 'Foolishness'

I'm sure the Board of Education wishes District 25's financial woes could be corrected as easily as Mr. deVuono and the other 200 petitioners suggest. These "experts" may have studied the budget carefully, listened attentively at pre-election coffess, and conscientiously read all published information on the school's financial dilemma but it is not evident from their conclusions. They seem to have missed one important fact. The passage of the referendum would have maintained the educational status quo, but the defeat means cutting the budget by $1,000,000. Got that figure? $1,000,0001 I fail to see how salary freezes are going to produce that kind of money.

I'm greatly disappointed in the Herald's tacit endorsement of such economic, not to mention, educational foolishness! Such uncritical journalism disgraces Paddock Publication's fine record on civic issues.

'There Ought To Be A Law'

Somewhere, somehow we have been duped I am referring to the hysterical commercials that have changed our way of life, our values of what we need or what we can do without. It has stolen into our lives like a cancerous growth, without our being aware. Commercials, projected pictures are more graphic than mere words A frenzied necessity bo buy, buy, hurry, hurry before the limited supply is gone, time the essence.

This tactic has keyed up the gullible generation to the point of almost NO RE-TURN. They cannot evaluate the truth from lies They must have their desired dream, not evaluating the consequence of how it has been obtained Many borrow the money with exorbitant interest, without a ghost of a chance of repaying it, or some even resort to stealing. These ideas have been so ingrained into their minds that the values of obtaining it, has been lost in the shuffle. Soap commericals (among others) are also high on the list of untrue advertising. Poor mothers whose children delight to waddle in the mud, or delight in spilling grease on their very best "bibs and tuckers" need never to worry again. Right before their eyes the stains and spots are removed by the magic or soap; almost unbelievable, a miracle. Isn't it simply amazing what a little bar of soap will accomplish, when it comes to ensnaring a man? The complexion with but a few applications, has taken on that ethereal look and the man is hooked.

Fast talkers are not limited to TV indeed not, just lend an ear for a few minutes to the radio. The psychology is the same, given a chance would almost drive a sane person out of his "cotton picking"

Honesty in advertising leaves much to be desired.

the superior educational system which our community now enjoys My vote will express my appreciation to the board and administration for the judicious use of my earlier tax dollars and my since belief that they will continue their wise policies in the future. It will be a thank you for the enriched lives of two daughters and several neighborhood children whom I have watched from their first days of school through the eighth grade and for the educators who mold the lives of another daughter and her little friends who now attend District 21 schools. It will indicate my concern for those children who are yet to move into our community, just as others were concerned about my children's education before my family became residents of Buffalo Grove It will reflect my pride in my neighborhood, which has been immeasurably strengthened by the presence of good schools during my 10 years of residence in the village. Our citizens have traditionally given highest priority to education, willingly accepting high tax rates in the interest of their children's welfare. I have every reason to hope that the majority of the citizens of the community will continue to support their schools. I believe that discretion will prevail again, even in this era of a questionable economy, and that all three issues on the April 10 referendum will receive a YES vote, affirming District 21's reputation as a leader in the northwest suburbs

Aladdin's Takes Men's Spotlight

Aladdin's Lamp Restaurant should be receiving a thank you note in the mail this week. It will be signed by the Buickin-Evanston quintet.

Aladdin's, with two of its members booming out 600 series, gave Buick some breathing room by shellacking secondplace Uncle Andy's Cow Palace, 7-0, at Striking Lanes Saturday night.

The Aladdin blitz interrupted an Uncle Andy surge that found the challengers just two points behind pace setting Buick with just two weeks remaining on the Paddock Classic Traveling League sched-

Instead, Buick now enjoys a comfortable seven-point spread to protect when the two teams meet in the position round

Don Buschner (646) and Don Christensen (604) paced an Aladdin lineup that was juiced by five well-balanced totals. Teammates Doug Verdonck, Rich Lau and Bill Harris contributed 588, 572 and 555 to the winning assault.

Uncle Andy's also had five keglers in the 5's, but none of their four individual 200 games could compete with Christensen's middle total of 235.

Buick-in-Evanston, meanwhile, padded their lead with irrepressible Ray Olson's sizzling 653, the evening's high, Ray banged out consistent scores of 210, 222 and 221 as Buick captured the first two games against Gaare Oil and the total pin category.

Aiding in the 5-2 triumph for Buick were Fred Hansen (589), Mike Truitt (584), Dick Kamin (587) and Russ Grosch (541), Kamin walked away with

First and second places have already been clinched and the top two, Lattof Chevrolet (second-half winner) and Doyle's-Striking Lanes (first-half champs) are trying to stay in practice for their showdown for the grand championship a week from Saturday.

The only close races in the standings are that between Thunderbird and Morton and the one between Des Plaines Lanes and Franklin-Weber Pontiac for third. The latter two are now even at 56 points apiece after Franklin's 7-0 shutout over Lattof and Des Plaines' 5-2 loss to Girard-Bruns.

Franklin-Weber took advantage of an off-night by Lattof in which the secondhalf rulers had Saturday's lowest total, 2454. The winners were led by Betty Peterman's 572 series, ending with a 205.

They got an assist from Girard, which toppled Des Plaines with the help of a 577 series and 209 game from Peggy Harris In the remaining match, Arlington Park Towers remained in fifth place by edging Dovle's-Striking Lanes 4-3. Doyle's won only the third game but with a margin of more than 100 pins to pick up an extra point for the series.

Mary Lou Kolb led Arlington Park with 570, including a 215 game, and Lu-Schoenberger's 569 with a 212 secondgame effort was high for Doyle's.

Going into the final week, Peggy Harris still leads the individual averages with better than 190. Lu Schoenberger is second and Lorrie Koch of Lattof third. No other bowler is close to the top three.

Maine East Wins, 2-1

899 899 789 11/3

John DeCardy and Frank Knopf combined to fire a one-hitter while striking out 11 batters as Maine East slipped past Niles West 24 in a non-conference game at Maine East.

DeCardy hurled the first three innings for the Demons and fanned three batters while giving up just one hit. Niles West scored its only run in the first inning on a walk, a stolen base and an error.

Knopf pitched the last four innings. struck out eight, walked three and cldnot allow a rim nor a hit.

Both of Maine East's runs came in the second inning. Bill Kilmer reached base.

on an error. Mike McDonnell walked and both advanced on a passed ball.

Dale Deschamps bit a sacrifice fly to score Kilmer and Barney Cornfield singled to drive in McDonnell. The win evened up Maine East's record at 1-1.

The Demons will play Glenbrook South

in a rescheduled game today at 11 a.m. at Glenbrook South. The game was originally slated for last Saturday but bad weather forced a postponement. SCORE BY INNINGS

'Fanatic' Fisherman Hits Record-Breaking Rainbow

by LARRY MLYNCZAK

It was supposed to be quite an uneventful day for Patrick Thompson last Sun-

Thompson went out to Axe Head Lake near Des Plaines originally to merely practice his flycasting.

What he came home with was a record breaking rainbow trout.

"I'm a fanatic fisherman," Thompson said, "and I wanted to get in some practice for flycasting so that's why I went out to the lake

"While I was there I noticed some people fishing with nighterawlers and I got out my spinning reel and put a nightcrawler on myself.

"I was fishing about three feet deep with a bobber from land close to shore. That's where I hooked him."

"Him" was the largest rainbow trout ever caught in inland waters in Illinois. "I knew it was a rainbow as soon as he hit," Thompson said," because he jumped and I got a good look at him. "I knew when I had him hooked and when I brought him in that it was quite big for a trout. But I had no idea that it was a record catch. In fact, I didn't even know what the record trout weight was.'

Thompson took the rainbow trout to the Prospect Heights Post Office where he used the post office's official scale and two postal employees witnessed the

The trout's weight was three pounds, two and one-half ounces.

The Illinois Conservation Department was informed of the catch and went to Thompson's home to inspect it. The Conservation Department approved the catch as a certified record catch, breaking the old record of three pounds even, and now Thompson's name is now in the record books.

years ago.

Perhaps among some of the folks who won various events at the show none were more proud than 10-year-old Bob Johnson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas C. Johnson of Elk Grove Village. Young Bob placed first in his class for Junior Showmanship, handling an Irish Setter. The Johnsons also entered one of their Irish Setters in the puppy class, 6 to 9 months, and won first place, with "Charlton's Irish Legend."

Other winners included a best of breed win for the Borzois, Champion Dalusha, owned by Carol Stell and Betty Halesky of Arlington Heights. Another winner from Arlington Heights was Mrs. Karl P. Gomoll, whose rough-coat Collie, Latoka's Wheel of Fortune, won his class and then went on to win a three-point

One winner from Des Plaines was Richard Guetzloff, whose German Shepherd dog, Bran-Deidi von Getzloff, won the highest scoring dog award in the obedience trial with 19912 points out of a possible 200.

Guctzloff, will probably long remember the event, because the trophy was presented to him in the main amphitheatre. He brought his dog into the arena using a signal command and the thousands of spectators roared their approval.

Another best of breed winner was the Mastiff, Ch. National Genghis, owned by and Sharon Haynes of Streamwood. Also winning best of breed, from Orland Park, the rough coat Collie, Ch. Baymar's Coming Attraction, owned by Martin Runge.

These are just a few of the winners, as many from the area won in their own class. Needless to say, it was a large show and a busy weekend for a lot of the dog show people.

Northwest Obedience Match

Obedience people will get a chance to enter their dogs in the spring obedience match planned for Sunday, April 18, at Hersey High School, 1900 E. Thomas, Arlington Heights.

To be held by the Northwest Obedience Club, the hours will be from 9 a.m. to 8 p.m., with registration from 9 a.m. to 12 noon. There will be classes for Novice A, Novice B. Open A, Open B, Utility, plus four non-regular classes, Graduate Novice, Brace, Team and Veterans.

The entry fee by mail is $2.00 for a single entry and $1.00 for each additional class or, each additional dog by the same owner. Entry at the door the day of the match will be $3.00 single and $1.50 for each additional.

Errors Hit Dons In Two Setbacks

Perhaps cold fingers had something to do with it,

Saturday against Glenbrook North and Monday against St. Viator, in both cases in sub-40 degree weather, Notre Dame's baseball team made numerous errors which led to losses to both foes.

The Dons lost to Glenbrook North 9-1 while committing eight errors in a nonconference game and made six errors against St. Viator while losing 7-2 in a Suburban Catholic Conference contest.

Notre Dame managed to get only two hits against Glenbrook North and both came in the third inning to account for the Dons' only run. A double by Randy Kamowski and a single by Tom Czarnick provided the tally.

Five of St. Viator's seven runs were unearned against starter Doug Kurzaldo and reliefer Jerry Lange. St. Viator scored in the third inning on an error and a wild pitch, twice in the fourth inning on an error, wild pitch, passed ball and a fielder's choice, twice in the fifth on a walk, two singles and a fielder's choice and twice in the seventh on a passed ball, on three errors, a fielder's choice and a single.

Notre Dame held a 1-0 lead in the second inning when Rich Pedi reached second on an error and scored on a broken bat single by Randy Kamowski. In the fifth frame the Dons tallied on a single by John Byron and a booming triple by Tom Les. 'We have a young ball club," said Notre Dame coach Jim Bachman who has been disturbed somewhat by the numerous errors. "You have to expect some errors by a young team but we should be able to cut down on the number we have made. "We have a lot of work ahead of us." SCORE BY INNINGS

Westminster's New Co-Pastor

Barbara Spelman's Path To The Pulpit

by DOROTHY OLIVER

The little girl who always wanted to be a nurse has wound up a minister. The Rev. Barbara Spelman, 29, was installed April 1 as co pastor of Westminster Presbriefian Church, Dempster and Beau Drive Des Plaines

I grew up in the life of the church," the said, but her background was similar. to thousands of other Christians. There was Sunday School, replaced in her high school years with a youth group Still there was always the desire to be a nurse. When I first went to college I went to nursing school. Then I decided to be a medical missionary. There were so many things I'd enjoyed in high school and college that were related to the church," Barbara said

She wound up graduating from Wagner College in New York with a bachelor's degree in sociology and made plans to enter McCormick Theological Seminary in Chicago

"SO OFTEN PEOPLE have asked me when I made the decision to enter the seminary and I never know what to tell them," she smiled "I never remember making a conscious decision

Her summer between college and semmary was spent in Europe. "I spent the money I had set aside and had to get a job I found one in the research department of the seminary and got quite insolved in the work. When I graduated I worked for them full-time until 1965."

Aithough she was working in the church, Barbara never thought about being a minister. "I enjoyed the work in the research center, but it eventually became more apparent that if I wanted to be more effective I should get a bachelor of divinity degree.

FROM 1967 TO 1969 she studied summers and nights and was ordained in October, 1969, to a special ministry in research and planning. Even with her degree. Barbara never pictured herself in

Generally, women who have been ordanced work in administration, as Christian education directors or assistant pastors. Only five-hundredths of one per cent of the ministers in the Presbyterian church are women and of that small percentage only half are pastors or co-pas-

"They don't discourage a woman in seminary," Barbara said, "but thay don't do a very good job of preparing you for what you're going to face when you get out. I haven't run into any difficulty, but then I went into a job I was working at already

BARBARA'S FIRST ENCOUNTER with Westminster was in 1966 when she did an evaluation of the church's experimental working pastor plan.

The church is among approximately five Presbyterian churches whose ministers work a full-time lay job and serve as pastors at no pay. The 20 families in the church have taken over responsibilities such as planning worship, and the only duties left strictly to their pastors are the giving of the sacraments and moderating meetings of the session and congregation.

"Bound" is their covenant and each member -- down to the preschoolers -contributes to the life of the church.

"I got to know the people by working with them," Barbara said. "I really got excited at what was going on.'

SHE RETURNED TO the church a second time for another evaluation and decided to make Westminster her home church

"One of the most exciting things, I felt. was when a famly took responsibility for worship services A little third grader stood and read the scriptures. It's great to see the kids so excited about what's going on in their church. They feel the church is a place that cares about them. where they can take part."

When the congregation decided to add another minister, Barbara was a natural choice Members voted to appoint her copastor Feb. 7, and the appointment received final approval from the Presbytery of Chicago

"One of the ideas that was talked about at the beginning of the experiment was to have several co-pastors with different areas of expertise," she said.

BARBARA IS LOOKING for a full-time 10b in the market research field — the secular equivalent of her previous job The idea behind the working pastor experiment is that the minister could serve with more understanding if he had the same kind of working life as other members of the congregation.

BARBARA SPELMAN, recently installed co-pastor of Westminster Presbyterian Church, takes her place behind the pulpit. In assuming her pastorate she becomes a part of the experimental ministry being conducted at the Des Plaines church. The custom-made communion cup, in the foreground, represents the covenant of the church — "Bound."

"We're seriously and intentionally trymg to figure out how to follow Jesus Christ in today's world. We're searching for a contemporary expression of the faith with no clear cut guidelines. It's something you struggle with," Barbara explained, adding that although the system is working well with Westminster's small congregation, it would be difficult for a large church to function in the

Her future is committed to service within the church. "I never expected to be a pastor. What I was doing in the area I'd normally fit into as a woman. The general direction in which I'm going is within the administrational life of the church. What is happening at Westminster is an experience I never would

WHEN BARBARA CHOSE to be ordained and join the small band of women involved in the ministry, her decision was greeted by a similar reaction from family and friends - surprise but no op-

As she continues in the field the reaction follows her. "When I walk into a room and say, Reverend Spelman is here, the people look behind me to see

Choosey-Cues For College

by KAY MARSH

If there's a college-bound high school senior in your family or circle of friends, you probably notice that he or she is suddenly very interested in the mail. He may even make special trips to the post office, or rush home to meet the mailman. But this, too, will pass. It's April, and the voice of the admissions officer is heard in the land. For this is the month when the more prestigious colleges and universities send out their acceptances or rejections.

Fat letters, of course, are acceptances. They are fat because they contain assorted forms, sheets and other information for the new freshman. Thin letters are rejections, since it takes only one sheet to say "No," even as tactfully and politely as admissions offices do. (Though one highly regarded Eastern college, at least last year, sent out "thin fat" letters: a note plus a card to return if you chose to accept the acceptance.) CHOOSEY-CUES: Choosing a college depends on so many factors You may

Flowers To Bloom At Sorority Show

Yellow and orange flowers fashioned by Alpha Omicron Pi's northwest suburban alumnae chapter will blossom at noon Tuesday, April 20, for the sorority's 'Fashions 'n Flowers," a benefit bridge luncheon. Highlighting the luncheon will be a fashion show with ensembles from Etc., Chicago, modeled by AOPi's.

Chairmen of the benefit, which will be held at South Park Field House, Park Ridge, are Mrs. John Nicholas and Mrs. Donald Keenan of Park Ridge. Subchairmen are Mrs. Laurence Frerk, Mrs. David Conway, Mrs. O. E. Taylor and Mrs. Barry Hurtt, all of Arlington Models will be Mrs. Robert Greco of Mount Prospect; Mrs. Matthew Meisterheim and Mrs. David Weidner of Des Plaines; and Mrs. John Cutlip, Mrs. David Donway and Mrs. Theodore Schaefer Jr. of Arlington Heights.

Funds from the benefit will be allocated in May. In the past, AOPi has donated to the Illinois Children's Hospital School and to its national philanthropy, the American Arthritis Foundation.

Tickets, priced at $2.50, may be purchased through sorority members or by calling 823-4243.

judge curriculum, faculty and library stressed this in his famous chapter on tacilities while he ponders dorm rules and the prospects for next year's football team, or even the number of parking spaces on campus. And don't think he won't know the exact distance from Campus X to Campus A, where his girl will be in September! Here, however, are three more important criteria to keep in mind - a sort of "A-B-C" for you and vour student.

"A" is for acceptance, the first "must." If your would-be freshman gets all rejection letters, he probably hasn't applied to the colleges that are right for him. There are still openings in good schools, and a place for him. He may want to investigate the fast growing community colleges. Or perhaps he'll want to contact one of several clearinghouses that match up students with schools.

(A friend in a university registrar's office says that one reputable, effective organization is the A.C.A.C. College Admissions Center of the National Association of College Admissions Counselors, in Evanston, Illinois. But check your high school guidance counselor first for his help and recommendations.)

"B" is for budgets, and college costs go up every year. Yale recently announced a raise in combined charges for tuition, room and board from $3,900 to $4,400 per year. Yet your freshman can limit out-of-pocket expenses to a few hundred dollars if he attends a community college and lives at home.

AND "C" IS FOR CLASSMATES, whose abilities and attitudes largely determine the general atmosphere on a campus. Henry David Thoreau, Harvard 1837, student's first choice college.

'Economy'' in "Walden." Noting that at "Cambridge College the mere rent of a student's room . . is thirty dollars each year," Thoreau complained that those things for which the most money is demanded are never the things which the student most wants. "Tuition," he wrote, "is an important item in the term bill. while for the far more valuable education which he gets by associating with the most cultivated of his contemporaries no charge is made."

But how do you judge? A campus visit or a talk with present students is one of the best ways to get a "feel" for a particular school. Next best is checking your library for such books as Lawrence Handel's College Confidential, published in 1969. This book attempts to give you the general atmosphere and reputation of many different colleges, in the opinions of the students themselves. You may find vourself in violent disagreement with what is says about your alma mater, or you may think it "tells it like it is," Either way, several undergraduates I know mentioned the book and suggested it as one your high school senior might profitably read.

IS COLLEGE REALLY WORTH the cost and effort? Yes, at least in terms of financial reward. The Census Bureau reported last fall that men 25 years of age and over can expect a lifetime income of nearly $580,000 if they'd had at least four years of college. Ten years earlier, the estimate was about $465,000. So costs are going up, but so are returns. And may all your returns be fat ones, starting with fat letters of acceptance from your

Dear Dorothy: Have always wondered if mushrooms had any nutritive value or whether they were just used for decorative purposes. Do you know? -Mrs. Geo.

Mushrooms, if used in sufficiently large amounts - say one cup or more can be considered a good source of niacin and iron. However, even if just used for decorative purposes, mushrooms have a way of transforming the most simple dish into a gourmet delight. Fortunately, they're quite low in calories so they are an additional treat for the weight-watchers.

Some Guidelines For Allowances

When parents determine a child's allowance, they should not be guided by what they received as a child Today things cost more

Children growing up today are accustomed to having more money at an earher age and spending more it's a natural result of our affluent society

Here are some guidelines for establishing an allowance

- 1 Determine the amount needed for daily and weekly expenses
- 2 Be sure the child knows the expenses he has to cover
